Some settlements in area construction negotiations

Several settlements have been reached in Southwestern Illinois construction negotiations. It was learned today. The previous three-year contracts expire at midnight tomorrow, July 31.

No agreement has been reported so far in talks between district laborers and builders. Another bargaining session may be held Tuesday morning.

NEW FACTS are believed to have been agreed upon by area carpenters, ironworkers and cement masons.

A tentative agreement is said to have been reached with operating engineers.

The Southern Illinois Builders Association and Southern Illinois Contractors Association, both based in Belleville, are negotiating with the 12 Counties Southwest Illinois Laborers District Council, whose headquarters are in Edwardsville.

MOST PARTIES have been unavailable for comment, but there is little doubt that considerable progress has been made toward avoiding a strike that would tie up residential, commercial and highway construction.

Other than the five labor organizations mentioned (laborers, carpenters, ironworkers, cement masons and operating engineers), area bricklayers earlier this year approved a settlement extending present wages and benefits for one year.

Teamsters are in the first year of a three-year contract.

GC Council rejects budget

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

Despite the fact that Granite City's 1984-85 proposed budget promises no tax increases for residents, members of the city council voted Friday night in a special meeting to disapprove the ordinance.

The vote, a 6-6, means that council members will have to act quickly to draft a new budget or reconsider the current tentative budget before the Tuesday, July 31, deadline. Council rules require eight "yes" votes to pass ordinances on the 14-member council.

IRVIN C. SLATE JR., a city at-torney, said Saturday the council would need a two-thirds majority to even reconsider the tentative budget. The motion for reconsideration will have to be presented by one of the members who originally rejected it, he said.

Slate said the city's other option would be to bring in a new budget. He said a new budget could be accomplished, however, by changing just one item on the old budget.

After this change is made, council members will have to meet twice to approve it—once to place it on first reading, the second time to place it on final passage. Slate said the two meetings could be unnecessary, however, if two-thirds of the council votes to suspend the rules and place the budget on final passage at the first meeting.

ANOTHER QUESTION surrounding the budget is whether the appropriation ordinance is even on the agenda for the special meeting that has been called for tonight. Some speculated that since there was an additional meeting called Friday, the budget is no longer on tonight's agenda.

City Clerk Robert W. Stevens said Saturday, however, that the agenda will still include passage of the 1984-85 budget. He said other topics that will be discussed are the sewage treatment plant budget, on which there has been no discussion, the Knights of Columbus zoning ordinance and roof repair bids for the street department.

Mayor Paul Schuler said Friday he feels the council is disapproving the appropriation ordinance, has acted irresponsibly. "I don't know what will happen if the budget isn't passed by the deadline, but I'm sure there will be some legal implications," he said. Schuler said the city may lose some funding if the budget is delayed.

SOME CITY officials expressed surprise that the budget was disapproved in light of the fact that Mayor Schuler told council members that the levy will probably not rise, so taxes for residents will not be raised.

The rejected budget also included a $350,000 bonus package for city employees, which meant a bonus of approximately $1,500 apiece for employees, who have not have raises for three years.

The proposed budget also was "in the black," since it was projected that there would be a surplus of $101,000 at the end of the year.

THOSE VOTING against the budget were Aldermen Sam Whitmer, Casmer Skubish, Sharon Perjak, Jake Varadani, Woodrow "Woody" Moad and Lloyd Bailey.

Voting for the budget were Aldermen Everett Morlen, Paul Ray Bowler, Michael Modrusic, Carl Kitchell, Phillip Miller and Stephen Salich.

Aldermen Fred "Pat" Schuman and Paul Fisk were absent from the meeting.

Budget 'secrecy' claims answered

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

In an address to city council members prior to the budget talks Friday night, Mayor Paul Schuler apologized for problems citizens and the news media had experienced in obtaining a copy of the 1984-85 proposed budget.

He said an editorial that appeared in the Press-Record last Thursday made him aware that some people had not been able to get copies of the appropriation ordinance. "I wasn't aware that the budget was not made available to the news media," he said. "I have to bear some of the responsibility for that. I was in San Francisco on vacation at the time, but I realize that is no excuse. The budget should have been made available to all interested parties."

"THERE ALSO has been some talk that the city is attempting to pull the wool over the taxpayers' eyes and I want to dispel that rumor. I don't think anybody's trying to hide anything.

In effect, this budget will allow us not to raise any property taxes this year."

Schuler opened up the floor to any questions that the council or residents had concerning the budget.

ALDERMAN MICHAEL Modrusic said that he was upset by the newspaper editorial. "It makes a lot of us look bad," he said. "Why wasn't the legal notice of the budget published in a local paper?" he asked. The legal notice of the public hearing on the budget was published only in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

City Comptroller Joe Miklovic explained that public notice of the budget has to be given 10 days prior to the budget hearing. He said the budget hearing was originally scheduled for July 17, but he later found out that the mayor would not be present at that meeting, so the hearing would have to be delayed until July 24.

"At that point, I had to make a decision quickly and 10 days prior to July 24 is July 14, a Saturday," he said. Since local newspapers do not publish on Saturdays, he said, he put it in the Post."

Bond vote likely

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Securing of enough petition signatures by Aug. 11 to force a Nov. 6 vote on proposed Granite City school bonds was predicted during the weekend by Norman Hall, Nameki Township tax collector.

Hall, a former Board of Education member, said 400 petitions are being circulated in the effort to obtain 2,300 or more signatures seeking a referendum. Many people already have signed the petitions but an exact count has not yet been made, he added.

A legal notice July 12 gave 30 days in which ten percent of the voters could seek a "backdoor" election on issuance of $6,600,000 in working cash fund bonds.

THE FUND WOULD enable the school district "to have in its treasury at all times sufficient money to meet demands thereon for ordinary and necessary expenditures... for salaries and other school purposes in anticipation of the collection of taxes lawfully levied for educational, operations, building and maintenance or transportation."

The fund is to be reimbursed to the extent of funds so advanced when such taxes have been collected. If petitions are not filed, School District Nine will have authority to issue the bonds.

Hall is stressing that he has not taken a stand for or against the bond issue; the petition campaign he is leading is intended only to assure that an election is held on the proposal.

AT LAST WEEK'S Nameki Town Board meeting, Hall defended the petition forms although they are slightly different than those obtained from the school district. "If they

Indicted for murder

Thomas G. Mudge, 28, Edwardsville, was indicted Thursday for the May 11 murder of his girlfriend, Miss Jacqueline M. Reed, 25, formerly of Granite City.

She was found dead in her apartment at 451 E. Vandalia St., Edwardsville, after being bludgeoned on the back of the head.

MUDGE TOLD POLICE that the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville student became sick from drinking the night before. But Dr. Joseph Spikes of the Illinois Department of Public Health made tests and found no alcohol or drugs in her body at the time of death.

Some sources say she had been trying to end her relationship with Mudge. Bennett W. Dickmann, director of Edwardsville police, said, "We feel we know enough about the defendant to know what the motive was."

HIS DEPARTMENT conducted the investigation, assisted by the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation.

Assistant State's Attorney Randy Massey, who presented the case to the Madison County grand jury, said evidence indicated a motive. But he added that the prosecution is not required to prove a motive.

Mudge is a son of the late Dick Mudge, state's attorney of Madison County in the 1950s and 1960s.

THE DEFENDANT appeared briefly before the grand jury Thursday before the indictment was voted. Testimony also was heard on Wednesday.

Mudge pleaded innocent Thursday afternoon before Circuit Judge Paul J. O'Neill and was released on $100,000 bond.

His defense attorney is Paul Riley, a partner in the Mudge family law firm. J. William Lucoo of the firm represented Thomas Mudge at the arraignment.

THE MURDER TRIAL will be conducted by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick.

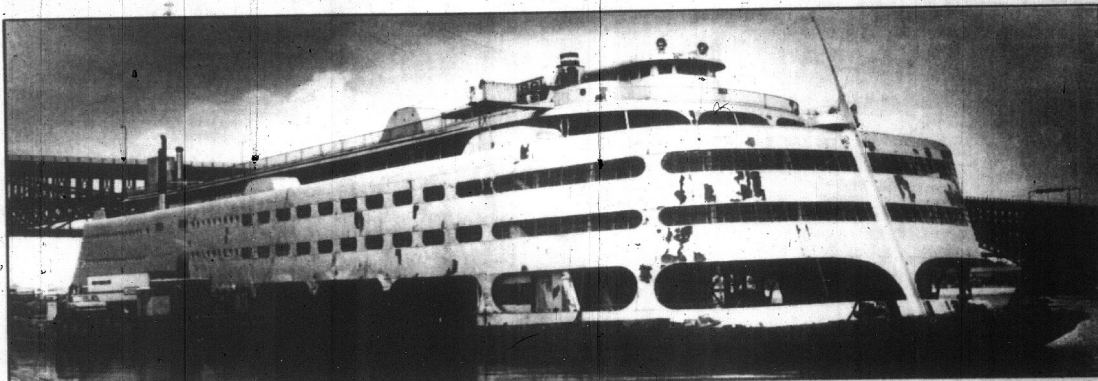

Witnesses saw Miss Reed and Mudge at Rusty's Restaurant in Edwardsville at 12:45 a.m. on the day of her death.

A coroner's jury ruled June 23 that the death was homicide. Mudge said she had been vomiting at the apartment but authorities said this was due to the head wound.

A PATHOLOGIST found that she suffered a fracture to the back of her skull from a blunt instrument. There were two skull fractures in all.

Massey has declined to say whether a weapon was found.

Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said the probable time of death on the morning of May 11 has not been determined.

SHE'S BACK! Bearing happy memories for most Quad-Cityans, the S.S. Eds, a 40-year-old boat already is the focus of a $27 million renovation project, seen here Friday afternoon, which is scheduled to be finished in time for the 1985 VP Fair.

Census survey begins this week

Beginning Aug. 1, local representatives of the U.S. Bureau of the Census will visit selected households in the area to conduct the Survey of Income and Program Participation.

This survey is being conducted in response to the need for better information on the economic well-being of the U.S. population. Information collected will be used to determine how selected government programs are working, and to help policy makers consider what changes are needed to make programs more effective.

Area households are among 18,000 nationwide taking part in the survey. Interviewers will gather information on jobs, earnings, participation in various government programs, and population characteristics. Summary data from the survey will be published periodically.

Information supplied by people taking part in the survey will be kept confidential under provisions of Title 13 of the U.S. Code. The information will be used only to prepare statistical summaries from which no individual or household can be identified. Representatives conducting the interviews will carry credentials identifying them as Census Bureau employees.

The hearing will begin on the property at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Education for Employment hearings on regional plan

Public hearings on the State Board of Education's proposed policy and administrative plan to address the needs of preparing students for employment will be held Aug. 7 in Springfield and Sept. 5 in Springfield and River Grove.

The board's Planning and Policy Committee will conduct the three hearings. On Aug. 7, the hearing will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Prairie Capital Convention Center, Room B-6, 1 Convention Center Plaza, Springfield.

The hearing in River Grove, Sept. 5 will be from 9 a.m. to noon at Triton Community College, Student Center, Willow Room, 2000 Fifth Ave. On the same date, a hearing in Springfield will be held from 3 to 6 p.m. at the State Board of Education's Board Room, 100 N. 1st St.

A Policy and Plan for Education for Employment was developed after a two-year study of Illinois' education for employment programs. These programs include vocational, employment and training, career, and adult education course.

"Illinois education for employment programs have served the state well for more than 60 years," the study found.

"Several dramatic changes in our society — particularly the rapid and continuing changes in technology and the characteristics of the work force, and the need to support the economic stability of individual citizens and the state — have significantly affected several segments of education," according to the study.

The board's existing policy on vocational education, adopted in 1975, would be replaced by the proposed policy. It would establish the board's intent for legislative, administrative and program direction in allocation of resources and the expected results of an Education for Employment delivery system.

One of the major focuses is on a regional delivery system for education for employment. To provide educational services to youth and adults, the system would seek to make effective use of public schools, area centers, post-secondary systems and the employment sector.

"To ensure student access to programs which reflect and respond to labor market conditions, the present system of school-by-school planning and delivery of education for employment programs must be abandoned in favor of one with a larger base and more participants," the study stated.

The board supports a regional approach because the present delivery system allows for "duplication of services and inefficient use of resources by local educational agencies."

Also, the board's policy supports a strong basic curriculum. The curriculum would provide core skills in such areas as language art, mathematics and science, as well as skills in human relations, self-directed learning, and the application of knowledge and skills to problem solving.

The policy requires responsiveness to the changing nature of the labor market, to technological advances, to the changing characteristics of the work force, and to the academic, technical and attitudinal development of students.

Plans call for a systematic program of curriculum renewal, staff development and equipment modernization, each developed in conjunction with employers of their geographical area.

Activities under the administrative plan include:

- A three-year implementation phase to be used for identifying appropriate regions, developing articulation agreements, and submitting local plans.

The state superintendent of education will gather and analyze data to prepare annual budget recommendations for the state's share of support of education for employment programs, including expenditures anticipated in formulating and operating regional systems.

He will seek alternatives for support of increased business and industry participation in the state's education for employment program, including continued support for the existing state advisory council as well as local advisory groups.

The state superintendent will take steps to amend existing rules to accommodate development of regional systems including consideration of program approval criteria, facility needs, teacher training, and financial support.

Persons wishing to testify may sign in 30 minutes prior to each hearing. They should bring 20 copies of their testimony and a contribution to the committee and staff.

Oral testimony will be limited to five minutes. Written testimony of any length will be accepted.

Before taking final action on the proposed policy and plan, the board will review public comments.

Rethinking light rail plans

While we originally had our doubts about the proposed light rail system from East St. Louis to Lambert St. Louis International Airport, we are beginning to change our minds.

We expressed fear that the project would be just another costly government study that would never get to the construction stage. We may end up eating those words.

The U.S. Senate has approved $15 million in start-up funds for the project and a House-Senate conference committee now is studying the issue. The proposed 21-mile system is planned for the area adjacent to the public hearing stage, farther than most such plans ever advance. Persons having views about the light rail plan may be heard at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Cervantes Convention Center in downtown St. Louis.

The best part about the $229 million proposal is that it uses existing facilities, where possible, such as an existing tunnel under the Eads Bridge. It may be possible to avoid taxation to build the system by giving the bridges to the system as a large part of the local matching cost. With federal grants matched by local sales including the bridge and tunnel, the system could be comparatively inexpensive to the local taxpayers.

Linked to an upgraded bus and shuttle system, the light rail line could make travel extremely easy to the airport and other areas.

From our conversations with Quad Cityans, they would rather ride a train than a bus. However, if large convenient parking lots are built alongside train stations, or convenient shuttle bus lines are established, Quad Cityans may find it easy to catch the train.

There would be 36 rail cars traveling up to 50 mph from downtown St. Louis to the airport in less than a half hour. In most cases, anything that brings the airport closer to the Quad City area, in terms of convenience, can only improve the area's future potential.

We just hope that, in the future, the system may be expanded to include direct service to the Quad City area.

Sign petition to assure school tax election

To the Editor:

Here we go, again. Another attempt to cram taxation down our throats without being first placed on the ballot. We should have a right to vote, with no preconditions such as petitions signed by 2,500 registered voters.

Unless a petition drive is held and enough signatures are obtained, counted and approved, within 30 days a new tax is to be placed on us by default.

It was in the legal notices of the July 13 Press-Record. We have been warned of the school board's intention.

We can blame the state for legislation denying us our normal constitutional right to vote on any matter placing a new tax on us. Since this is a new tax, it behooves us to be careful and read the legal notices.

When our nation came into being we revolted against the rule of England. We refused to accept new taxes with no voice in the matter. The right to such a vote is at the heart of our Democratic heritage.

How did we allow legislators to write laws placing conditions on that sacred right? We didn't know it was happening. That wasn't put to a public vote either.

With the Madison County Special Sewer District, Service Area One, were the first in Illinois to be caught in this trap. In 1975, the Madison County Board floated a $3 million general obligation bond issue chargeable only to residents of the service area, not the county at large.

A "backdoor referendum" petition drive was mounted, requiring a great deal of organization, time and effort. Signatures were a little in excess of the number the county said was required.

When they were presented, faults were found to the extent that the drive was discounted and the bonds were issued anyhow. We the people since then have been paying each year on our real estate taxes a new, special tax to pay off this debt which we were denied the right to vote on.

Like so many things in life, what doesn't pinch our individual pocketbook is ignored. Not all the people in School District Nine were affected by this bond issue.

But here we go. This time, all in the school district are affected by a $6.5 million bond issue to provide a reserve fund.

We are already paying taxes to educate our children; the district receives 63.47 percent of our total property tax dollars each year. It should not require any additional money.

Instead, it is high time that our board starts an overall housecleaning and cuts expenditures to the bone.

Perhaps the best service we could provide children might be a return to the old basics. Teach them, and do it well. No more graduating illiterates from grade and high schools—those who have not learned to read, write or cipher after eight to 12 years of "schooling."

Return to a regimen of reading, penmanship, math, grammar, spelling, history, geography and science. It was good for our parents and it's good enough for us.

If we truly teach the basics, we will have accomplished more by far than we have been doing for the past two decades.

Supplement their school learning with practical home teaching, as our forefathers did. "Government in the making" appears in each newspaper issue. Encourage reading the news and then discussing it, whether at meals or other times.

For our communicating, regardless of the subject matter, we have unfairly dumped many of these responsibilities on our school system, rather than meeting them at home. Now, it's reckoning time.

Are we going to allow the board to stick us with even more taxes? Will we allow a reserve fund, to sit unused for the most part, with interest accruing on the whole unpaid principal year after year—in case they use up, wisely or unwisely, the taxes already provided?

Such a preposterous method, with its staggering interest charges, would replace the traditional method employed by government, which is to temporarily obtain stopgap funds with anticipation warrants. Warrants are repaid with minimal temporary interest charges when the taxes have been collected and distributed.

It's time to call a halt. The handwriting is on the wall. Sign the petition and halt this monstrous attempt to foist another tax on us.

To all who treasure their constitutional right to vote on all issues concerning taxation, protect that right. Make sure the issue is presented on the ballot, by signing the petition.

That vote can be safeguarded only if we sign the petition promptly. Unless there is a petition, there will be no vote on the new tax.

Feels public budget notice 'a bad joke'

To the Editor:

The recent printing of the Notice of Public Hearing on the upcoming City budget in the "St. Louis Post-Dispatch," rather than in our own Granite City newspapers is, from this taxpayer's viewpoint, a joke—a bad joke on taxpayers who deserve better from their elected officials.

After seeing the notice in the St. Louis newspaper, I called both local newspapers to ask if they had been requested to print an official public meeting notice and to ask why they had not commented on the proposed budget, as they have in past years. I was told they had received nothing to print regarding the meeting or the budget.

At the "public" hearing held July 24, the importance of passing the budget quickly was evidently stressed because a special city council meeting is scheduled for tonight at city hall for that purpose.

It appears likely our elected governmental "representatives" will have achieved exactly what it appears they attempted—a budget passed without any public comment and very little awareness of its content or its dollar impact on the taxpayer.

The questions in my mind today are: Why the rush and why the secrecy, and at this point in time, what can a taxpayer do?

With regard to the future, it seems to me there are three possible alternatives:

1 — Take it — ignore it as taxes continue to skyrocket.

2 — Excuse it by saying the city administration is elected and surely knows what it's doing — and then write out bigger checks to cover higher taxes.

3 — Do something about it! Responsibility evaluate all elected representatives and exercise the right to vote at election time.

I, myself, don't like what I consider "shady" deals or "bad" jokes at my expense. I hope other taxpayers feel the same way.

Then again, in all fairness, maybe the city administration really believed St. Louis residents are interested in our Granite City budget.

Fears raising children around drug users

To the Editor:

I live within the boundaries of Kirkpatrick Homes and what I face on a daily basis can not be curtailed by words for living amongst residents who rely heavily on drugs to see them through the day or just to sedate their kids. But what makes it worse are the "so-called adults" who pass them freely to children and teenagers so that they can get hooked on drugs.

Have you, as a parent, noticed a difference in your child's behavior which has given you reason to worry? And what of his or her school work? Is it up to par or would you like very much to see a vast improvement? Unbeknownst to you, could your child be hooked on amphetamines or just marijuana received from wandering adults who may have unlimited supplies close at hand? Is this how you want your child to grow, relying solely upon drugs for survival, kicks, or whatever excuse they may give?

The biggest problem yet is that no evidence against a person who holds pot or sells whatever time of day he or she may choose, perhaps having small children in the next room. But, because no one will come forward because of fear of repercussions, fail to be apprehended through the court.

This is the Kirkpatrick Dilemma because, while it inhibits children from normal growth, it also gives the drug dealer ample opportunity to promote his profit trade of selling drugs and distributing them to boys and girls of all ages.

A parent does have a choice if he or she cares enough about his or her children to seek professional assistance to snuff out the dealers and the users so as to maintain a healthier environment for all of the children of Kirkpatrick Homes.

Are you a drug user? Does your child know that you use drugs? How does it affect him or her? Is it accessible to him or her? Is it justifiable to change in mommy or daddy, which he doesn't quite understand?

How does your child react? Frightened, bewildered, tempted to give the stuff a try too? How do you relate to and answer your child?

Continental Bank rescue

DARWIN MUELLER

TAMMY GRAY

On Thursday, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation rescued Continental Illinois Bank from bankruptcy. The Chicago bank, once the eighth largest in the nation, has flourished since being on the giving end of billions of dollars in bad loans. Persons shopping at Crossroads Plaza Friday were asked if they thought the federal government should have stepped in to aid the bank. Their reactions follow:

Darwin Mueller, Granite City

"Ordinarily I would say no. I don't favor such a bailout, but there were many smaller, investing banks also involved. By letting the big bank go, I'm afraid a lot of smaller banks would have been victimized as well. I think it's better that the government stepped in."

Tammy Gray, Granite City

"I think it was the right thing. People need banks, especially the smaller ones. I understand that not only would the defaulting bank suffer but so would many smaller banks. There isn't supposed to be any tax money involved, but you'll never know."

Ann Pellazari, Granite City

"No, I don't really think they should have bailed them out. It doesn't seem fair for them to bail the big bank when you know they wouldn't do the same for a smaller bank. I'm just not so sure that they would help out a lesser bank. Besides, we see much of the money invested going outside of the country. I don't think that's right. We need that money right here in the U.S."

E. Hobbs, Granite City

"As far as the bailout is concerned if the FDIC hadn't stepped in it would have meant that as many as 2,100 smaller banks would have suffered. I think the government was right stepping in, but it shows awfully poor management on the part of Continental Illinois."

Disappointed in public racial statements

To the Editor:

I'm of the caucasian race and I'm very disturbed of one incident that happened at a downtown convenience store July 14. About 7:30 a.m. I was in the store making a purchase. A young man also was making a purchase, and as he was checking out, a female employee of the store made some derogatory remarks to him about, as she said, "colored people."

There was a black lady in the store at the time and also heard the remarks. Four employees began to laugh.

I was upset, not laughing, to think that people working in the public could be so stupid.

Black people patronize the store and their money spends as well as the next person. If they stopped buying, it would hurt.

I would like to say this to the female employees. You should think anything you like but in a public place, learn to control your big mouth and do your job the way it's supposed to be done.

Communists not needed in the Olympics

To the Editor:

In 1980, the U.S. government sponsored a boycott of the summer Olympics because of the Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan. Sixty nations joined in staying away from the Moscow extravaganza.

Four years down the road, 100,000 Soviet troops continue to inflict death and destruction on innocent Afghan people. But this time, the Soviets are staying away from the summer games in Los Angeles.

The L.A. Olympic Organizing Committee was wrong in trying to reverse this decision.

The only constant is that Soviet troops are still in Afghanistan. Four years of their presence has forced three million refugees to flee to Pakistan and one million more to seek refuge in Iran, out of a pre-war population of only 15 million to 17 million.

In areas where resistance to Soviet troops continues, atrocities against the civilian population are swift and numerous. Entertaining Soviet athletes in America should have been unthinkable.

The Kremlin's claim that the U.S. is unable to guarantee the safety of its athletes was patently absurd.

Only a few days after pulling out of the Olympics, Moscow dispatched a high-level trade delegation to our dangerous shores. Do the Soviets expect anyone to believe that they worry about the safety only of sports figures?

True enough, there should be concern about acts of terrorism — but not for the Soviets. It is they who do virtually all of the world's terrorism, and they hardly aim their attacks on their own.

So, why did they pull out of this year's games? Possibly, they feared defection of their heroes.

Also, they hoped to embarrass the United States, particularly President Reagan. And revenge for our action in 1980 should not be overlooked. But we suspect another motive.

The Soviets themselves boycotted the Olympics from the time they seized Russia until 1952.

Hitler used the Berlin games of 1936 to propagandize for his "master race." An Arab threat to boycott the 1948 games was avoided when Israel was denied attendance.

The USSR forced South Africa out of the 1968 Mexico City games.

Terrorists used the occasion of the 1972 games in Munich to slay 11 Israeli athletes.

Twenty African nations boycotted the 1976 Montreal games merely because a rugby team from New Zealand had toured South Africa. And Trudeau used Canada's host status in 1976 to insult the anti-Communist Chinese from Taiwan. Keeping politics out of the Olympics is about as likely as keeping Howard Cosell quiet.

The chief beneficiary of the political nature of the Olympics, unfortunately, has been the Communist world, which has gained respectability even while its brutal subjugation of scores of nations continues.

Conversely, nations such as ours have soiled themselves by the willingness to play games with representatives of bloody tyrannies.

We darkened America's reputation and helped monsters to look normal in the aftermath of the 1956 suppression of the Hungarian revolt, and again immediately after 200,000 Soviet troops stormed into Czechoslovakia in 1968.

In 1984, however, the Soviet Union has adopted the role of the "bad" Communist regime and Red China is being portrayed as the seat of "good" Communism.

Though bailing out of the Los Angeles Olympics might seem to be self-defeating for Moscow, the move will contribute to the on-going love affair between the U.S. and Peking.

All of which says to us that playing games with Communists is always wrong.

Budget 'secrecy'

why the budget notice could not have been run again, just for public knowledge, in a local paper.

Miklovic said he feels he fulfilled his legal obligation by printing it in a newspaper of local circulation.

Modrusic asked why a copy of the budget had not been made available at an earlier date. "I've been asking for the budget for a month," he said.

MIKLOVIC REPLIED that he was supposed to present his best estimate of the budget to city officials by May 15. He said the estimate was ready on that date, but was not presented to the council in a formal manner until July 5. "At that time it was talked about briefly and placed on file," he said.

"I don't know how someone can say that something is secret if it's in the clerk's office," he said.

"People have access to these documents before and after the meeting. I can only lead the horse to water. I can't make him drink it."

Modrusic commented that he knew about the computer printout that was handed out at that time, but that he was looking for a copy that was more updated.

"Why wasn't a copy like that available?" he asked.

MIKLOVIC SAID it "just was not done. I am only one man and I can only do so many things. The product you have now was generated by myself and two 16-year-old students."

"And you know what that means. Every time there was a mistake made, it had to be typed over and over and over. And every time it had to be retyped, I had to review it."

Miklovic said he also had been interrupted by other office duties, such as payroll and Community Development questionnaires.

"Do I sacrifice Community Development to do the budget?" he asked.

MODRUSIC ASKED Miklovic why he did not ask for help so that he could get the budget done earlier.

Miklovic said he had asked people in the city to help him, but they didn't do it. "Nothing was done," he said.

After these comments, several aldermen praised Miklovic, including Sam Whitmer, who said that he thinks Miklovic is very accessible. "Sometimes I think he's trying to convert me into a CPA," he said. "But he always answers my questions and sometimes I think I stay too long, because I can see all of the other work he has to do."

School bond

throw mine out. I'll throw theirs out," he commented.

In general, the school district takes the position that the bond issue would prove helpful to taxpayers by setting the stage for elimination of operating debt.

Large interest payments currently are being made, totaling nearly $1,000 a day. It would be possible to phase these out if the bonds permit stabilizing of school finances, officials have said.

EFFORTS TO OBTAIN a detailed rationale from the district—on why citizens should sign or abstain from signing election petitions—so far have been unsuccessful. Board President David Partney said again last week that he is preparing a statement but has not yet completed it.

It was estimated at the July 17 board meeting that a 10-year bond issue would involve a tax rate of 50 cents on each $100 of real estate valuation, or $50 a year on a $30,000 home assessed at $10,000. Partney comments that the district would be in a dire financial situation if bonds are not issued.

VIRTUAL BANKRUPTCY may have been declared by August 1985 if there is no bond issue, Partney adds. Partney says the public is being asked to provide only a few cents a day "to get out of this jam."

The district finished its fiscal year June 30 with its income exceeding costs by $67,000 but also an $8.6 million deficit for which $7.6 million was borrowed, Finance Director Norman Owca estimated.

HALL WOULD LIKE to see a detailed plan explaining how the working cash fund money would be used. He said he is uncomfortable "when there are large sums of money setting around."

Supt. Frank Kraus said the district balanced its revenue and spending in 1983-84 and hopes to do the same in 1984-85. The contracts of all employee groups are expiring this summer and some negotiations are in progress.

As part of its refinancing program, the school system has been paying teachers through bank payroll orders this summer and has issued $5 million in tax anticipation notes. The 18-month notes are for the last half of calendar year 1984 and all of 1985.

TONIGHT'S 7:30 board meeting will include the resumption of a closed hearing for former Supt. B.J. Davis, personnel items, an executive session on personnel and legal matters, and a report on Granite City Steel appraisals.

By far the largest local taxpayer, the steel firm has objected to most of its real estate taxes.

Affected taxing bodies have discussed jointly financing a challenge to the company's legal effort to end most of its real estate taxes.

local region for a number of years. Both workers and contractors are believed to be hopeful that any delay of construction activity can be prevented.

Paving work and erection of overpasses for the mammoth Interstate 255 highway in Madison and St. Clair counties are among the projects currently in progress.

Some Interstate 270 work also is pending.

Illinois Transportation Department District Engineer Dale Klob estimates that $114 million in state highway work would be halted if a construction strike occurred.

Q: Your answer to a reader's question on the difference between Chapter 7 and Chapter 13 bankruptcy cleared up some confusion for me. But, under what circumstances should a person file under either form?

A: We urge two things with respect to bankruptcy. First, bankruptcy should only be viewed as a very last resort and, expert legal assistance should always be taken in matters of bankruptcy. However, in general, a person with no assets to protect—no real estate, savings or other investments, might choose Chapter 7 proceedings. On the other hand, a person who has substantial equity in a home, or who owns expensive jewelry, collectibles or other investments would probably seek protection under Chapter 13. Small business owners might also select reorganization under Chapter 13. Regardless, bankruptcy is a serious step which demands thought, deliberation and professional counsel, and can have serious future implications.

Atkins School 1820-1950 history includes century of leadership by Segar family

By FERD SEGAR.

(One of a series by the Old Six Mile Historical Society.)

The site of the Atkins School District on Chouteau Island was selected because Indians were still moving through the local area, and people for safety reasons wanted to be as close as possible to the center of activities.

Most of the area had heavy timber. Clearing of the timber on Chouteau Island started in the northwest quarter of Section 17 on the property of Charles Atkins.

Land had been put in the hands of settlers as a reward for their service in the Mexican War. That parcel, the Atkins farm, lay east and south of the tract granted to Roger Segar. The Segar family held title to the land for many years.

It is an honor to discuss Atkins School as a graduate who passed through its portal 64 years ago.

It also is an honor to trace the history of those persons who thought it necessary to maintain the facility, and the teachers who shared their knowledge and sympathy with me and others for my benefit.

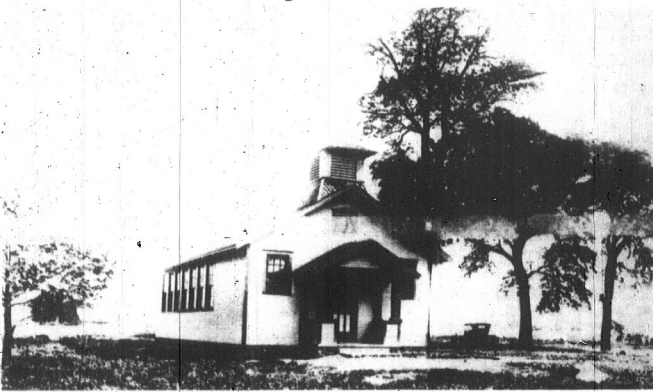

On March 4, 1789, the Constitution of the United States went into effect and on April 30 George Washington was inaugurated as president.

In the articles of that document, it grants to any interested, recognized body the right to make application to its respective state government to organize a school district within its boundaries.

The application was to list the county, township, boundaries of the district, number of persons living in the district, number of school-age children, names of the elected directors, and the name of the school.

The state, in turn, was to designate the number of the new district and set up a trust fund in the name of the district, to be administered and invested by the county superintendent of schools.

This is a subject that captured my attention. I went to the township authority while I was a director to make sure that this stipulation was being followed. The school district received the revenue from the trust fund, and the money had to be placed in the education fund.

When we began in 1949 to talk consolidation, because of the stipulation that the money stay in the hands of the district, I wondered who would sign the release to terminate the fund. I didn't believe that, as chairman of the board of directors, I could sign it.

The Madison County superintendent said that, due to development in the area, we would have to yield to the voice of the people, so an election was held.

My grandfather followed my great-grandfather, and my dad followed my grandfather. I followed my father on the board of Atkins School District, the four of us serving for a period of more than 100 years. I was sorry to lose that continuity.

Chouteau Island was the only area that had its trust fund still intact in the late 1940s. I am proud of the pioneers who served in the office of board chairman prior to my service.

Madison County dates back to 1812 and Illinois became a state in 1818. The history of the Atkins educational program extends from 1820 to 1950.

The name on the application was the Atkins District, but the state answered that it would be known as School District Number Five. Elected as directors were Roger Segar, Charles Atkins and Jacob Baer.

The site of the first school construction on Chouteau Island—Big Island, as it was called at that time—was located about one-half mile north of the present Interstate 270 highway, or to the right as you approach the Mississippi River from the Illinois side. This site was selected because it was fairly high ground and was in the midst of the greatest activity.

A wood yard was forming on the bank of the river at that time. This yard later held interest for me because from there I watched steamboats going up and down the river. I admired their majesty.

The wood yard was in an area of heavy timber. Cottonwood grew along the swampy areas, with maple, walnut and a lot of hickory—mostly hard woods. This gave pioneers a chance to clear their land as the operation advanced. Wood was cut into lengths and the larger trees were split four times.

They used teams of horses to move the wood to the yard. Boats stopped continually while going up and down the river to replenish their wood supply. The wood was burned to make steam to operate those vessels.

It was somewhat inconvenient for the residents to give up that land, but it gave them the opportunity to clear away timber and improve future agriculture.

The first school building was erected about 1820. It was a log type, about 16x16 feet, with an opening for the door and one window.

The roof was supported by split poles and was covered with old-fashioned split shingles. The floor was supported by split poles, with hand-hewn planks covering it. The school was heated in winter by a fireplace.

Constructing the building were Roger Segar, H.S. Pattengill, Charles Atkins, Henry Harshall and Nathaniel Buckmaster. They did the work at their own expense.

It was a new district and they thought it was easier to pay for it out of their own pockets, rather than to have a budget approved in Edwardsville by the county clerk.

The benches on which the pupils sat were made from split logs. The bench legs were placed in drilled holes and there was no backrest.

The directors contracted to pay the teacher $17 per month for a six-month school term. They continued to hold classes at this site for about 24 years.

When the major flood of 1844 occurred, the river washed the bank away almost to where the village stood. The school was badly damaged.

Neighbors soon met and decided to erect another log building a quarter-mile farther inland from the old site. They were given permission to construct a new school immediately, and a log structure was soon finished.

A better door was installed and a parchment cover was placed over the window to shield those inside from the cold and rain. A wood-burning stove was utilized.

Benches and tables were moved into the new building. Several new benches were created to accommodate the additions within families and also the children of new families moving into the area.

One family which secured land and set up residence at the time was that of Amos Atkins Sr. He had studied law and business management in Morton, Ill.

He quickly joined forces with the other families to promote interest in the community. He stressed the importance of educating the young and of developing the area.

A few years later he was elected as a director of the board. He was re-elected several times, serving admirably.

The school continued at the new site until 1857 despite considerable hardships. Among the directors were Amos Atkins and L.W. Segar.

The district was receiving state aid, which amounted in 1850 to $24.92. The salary paid the teacher at that time was $24 a month or $144 for the six months.

In 1850, the State of Illinois enacted new laws authorizing the superintendent of schools in each county to allocate the funds of each school district to upgrade their facilities.

The state board of trustees designated a new number for the district, and it became Atkins School District 110.

Directors of Atkins in 1860 decided to plan a site that would be more convenient and that would better serve the district.

When my dad was young, at the end of the farm, there would be more convenient and that would better serve the district. When my dad was young, at the end of the farm, there would be more convenient and that would better serve the district.

In temperate weather, you could take off your shoes and walk across it. In bad weather, my father and his brothers took turns carrying their sister across it to school.

H.F. Pattengill, who lived nearby for many years, had bought another tract of land farther inland.

At a school meeting, the directors decided to contact Pattengill and ask him if they could lease one acre of land to build a new school. He agreed to the lease and also to a roadway into the school.

Directors contracted to have a new frame building built by Jonathan Wood. This school was used for 52 years.

The large structure was heated by a pot-bellied heater with a vent pipe through the roof. A new well was driven to provide a water supply. Desks and recitation seats were installed as well as a desk for the teacher.

Just prior to 1910, a new board of directors was elected—John H. Segar, Emil Willaredt and Ferdinand Segar Sr.

I started to Atkins School in 1911 and my teacher was Bernadine Troeckler of Mitchell. She required absolute discipline and attention in the classroom and also controlled behavior on the playground.

We wore knickerbocker pants and high button shoes. She did not care how big we were or how wise we thought we were. If we needed a whipping, we got it.

She would send some of the older boys to an apple orchard to get switches. She gave them five minutes to return.

She would grab you by the shoulder. If she could not get you to feel the spanking, she would swat you a couple of times on the calves; below your knickerbocker pants.

We had better discipline back then than when I attended high school.

In 1913 the board decided that a new building was needed. At the end of that term, the old school was sold to a man who moved it intact to his farm for use as a storage building.

The board decided to have a building constructed in the standard school style. It had to meet certain specifications, including separate classrooms and a cold-storage area inside the building.

The Atkins board contracted with Joe Kessler of Edwardsville to build the school. It had a furnace for heat, and featured new seats. It also had a slate blackboard.

In May 1920, my class graduated and received diplomas. Numerous changes were made on the board and in teachers over the ensuing years. A storm cellar was built to protect the young people.

I was elected as director of the district in April 1943. Members of the school board at that time were Emil Willaredt, Ferd Segar Sr. and Edmond Willaredt.

This building suffered severe damage in the floods of 1943, 1944 and 1947. The damage was quickly repaired each time.

In 1949 there was talk about consolidation of the Granite City elementary and high school districts and surrounding districts.

The people voted in 1950 to place the Granite City schools, Nameoki, Stallings, Gabaret and Atkins into one district called Granite City Unit District Nine. The Stallings, Gabaret and Atkins buildings were no longer needed.

The 1913 Atkins structure was closed in 1950 and the children were bused into Granite City, ending the long Atkins School history.

Governor signs appropriation bills

Governor James R. Thompson has acted on nearly 100 appropriation bills to fund the bulk of Illinois' budget for Fiscal 1985.

Thompson reduced the appropriations contained in the bills he acted on by $58.8 million, $20.8 million of that in General Revenue Funds. The bulk of the other $38 million in cuts made by the governor were in new projects added to the budgets of the Department of Transportation and the Environmental Protection Agency.

The total appropriations contained in the bills as approved by the Governor total $17.5 billion, with $2.5 billion in General Revenue Funds. There still remain several appropriation bills to be acted upon. As sent to the governor by the General Assembly, those other bills contained about $415 million, with $81.2 million in General Revenue Funds.

"This budget is one that will allow Illinois to take care of the basic needs of its citizens. But it also allows us to begin some important new programs and to increase funding for current programs. I believe this budget takes giant strides in addressing problems that this state should be addressing, including cleaning up our environment. Providing greater service to our elderly and our children and creating an economic climate that is second to none through technology transfer grants and concentration of a high tech center," the governor said.

"These appropriation levels will better help us tackle serious crimes and drunk drivers, help those on welfare with their living costs, increase elementary and secondary education well above the level originally budgeted, and help minorities and women take a greater role in our state's economic development."

In education, elementary and secondary schools across the state will receive $2,259 billion in General Revenue Funds, an increase of $108 million, or five percent, over Fiscal 1984. This will provide for a $87 per pupil increase (though the distributive aid formula for Illinois grammar and high schools).

This raises the per-pupil level to $1,840, the highest level ever. In addition, the governor approved a $1 million increase, or a tripling of funds, for the computer consortium. These funds will be used in part to upgrade teacher skills so they can use computers in the classroom.

The governor also approved $100,000 to initiate a principals' academy program.

Illinois colleges and universities will receive $1,120 billion in GRF dollars, an increase of $61 million, or about six percent, over the Fiscal 1984 levels. This will allow a faculty-staff pay increase at higher education institutions as well as instituting, both at the university and community college level, a major push to create a stronger high technology partnership between higher education and business.

As part of the high technology partnership program, the governor approved funding of $2 million for a new program where the state would match local funds for the purchase of high technology equipment at community colleges.

Maximum state scholarships also would increase from $2,200 to $2,400, or nine percent.

In other areas, the appropriations approved by the governor will allow funding of the most ambitious crackdown on hazardous waste sites in Illinois history. The program initiated by the governor with support from legislative leaders allocates $20 million for the evaluation and cleanup of the sites across Illinois.

In addition, he approved appropriations totaling $2.1 million for a program that would improve the state's research and investigative abilities in the effort to better control toxic substances and wastes.

He signed a $15 million, or 44 percent, increase over Fiscal 1984 spending levels for in-home care programs to keep the elderly and disabled in their homes and communities when nursing home care can be avoided.

The governor signed a $250,000 appropriation to create an inspection and permit system to regulate amusement park and carnival rides in Illinois. He also approved $35 million within the Department of Public Aid to provide grant increases for energy assistance beginning Jan. 1, 1985.

In the area of coal, the governor approved $15 million more from the Coal Development Bond Fund and $6 million in new money for coal research funding.

The Department of Law Enforcement will be able to hire 25 more troopers, at a cost of $625,000, in the statewide crackdown on drunk drivers and 14 troopers to form a special unit within the Department to tackle serious crimes through a $325,000 appropriation.

The governor approved more than $10.6 million for the land acquisition, construction and startup costs for the Chicago Technology Park, which will serve as a high technology incubator facility.

He approved nearly $3 million for the Department of Children and Family Services to hire up to 260 more workers in the Child Welfare Division, allowing more follow-up services to help abused and neglected children.

A $10 million appropriation for a new program to renovate state parks and conservation areas also was signed, an important ingredient in ensuring that Illinois' tourism industry becomes even healthier in the coming years.

AMERICA'S LOSING THE TRADE WAR!

We've already lost too many American jobs. In footwear. Copper mining. Textiles. Clothing. Electronics. Machine tools, and many other industries. Because we're importing more and more foreign goods.

Now our most basic industry is threatened. Steel. We're importing 25% of our steel, while 100,000 American steelworkers are out of work.

And that's only the beginning. Another 235,000 workers in steel related industries have lost their jobs.

Some wore blue collars. Some wore white.

Last month the International Trade Commission ruled that 70% of the steel industry is seriously injured because of foreign imports. Hopes lifted in America's steel towns.

But this month, when the Commission recommended a remedy, many of those hopes were dashed. Of the steelworkers still working, only about 3 out of 10 would get any relief.

The recommendation would provide:

- ★ No help at all to workers in pipe and tube mills, steel bar mills, wire rod mills and workers in rail mills.
- ★ No effective help to workers who make steel beams for bridges and buildings, or to those who make steel plates, steel cables, nails and many other products.
- ★ No effective help to workers who make raw steel.

The recommendation would help only one group of steelworkers: those who roll sheets and strip for such products as automobiles and appliances. That recommendation goes to President Reagan now, and by law he must make a decision soon. If all he does is rubber stamp the Commission's recommendation, only a handful of steel plants and communities are likely to survive, unless Congress steps in.

Fairness demands more.

In contrast to our wide open market, Europe limits steel imports to 1.1% of its market. Japan imports only about 5% of its steel. The developing countries import NO steel products they can make.

These and other countries are insisting that U.S. ports remain wide open to their steel. For America, it's all give and no get. You can help the President decide.

He has the power to do more than the ITC recommended.

If you're tired of losing the trade war, send this coupon to President Reagan. He needs to know how American citizens feel.

Campaign urges steel quotas

Advertisements began appearing today throughout the major steel-producing states calling for letters to the president supporting comprehensive quotas on imported steel. The advertisements are sponsored by LOFT (Local Officials for Fair Trade) and are funded entirely by private contributions.

According to Pittsburgh Mayor Richard S. Caliguiri, acting chairman of LOFT, the advertisements are meant to show the president of the steel industry.

"This is more than just an industry or a steelworker issue," Mayor Caliguiri said. "It's an issue that affects the whole country, but most specifically those states where steel production is crucial to the state's economy." Those specific states are Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Texas. These states account for about 75 percent of the nation's steel production, according to the mayor.

Advertisements also will run in the steel and iron centers of Western New York, Northern Minnesota, Utah and Central Alabama.

"The steel industry has been crushed by an ever-growing tide of imports. That's one of the reasons unemployment is still so high in the steel states. State and local budgets are caught in a pincer: Taxes are down, costs are up. Local businesses have been hurt badly forcing the layoff of tens of thousands of workers indirectly related to steel," Mayor Caliguiri said.

These advertisements are intended to show people in steel states that they don't just have to sit back and take the beating from illegally subsidized steel imports," the mayor added. "There is an alternative."

Robert H. Karandjeff, 61, of 22 Camelot, Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, was found at his home today without signs of life and pronounced dead at 8:40 a.m. at the scene by Randall Irwin, Madison County deputy coroner.

A 22-caliber handgun was found near the body and he apparently died of a gunshot wound to the right temple, according to an official. There also were notes to the family found in the house, the official said.

A life-sized resident of Granite City until moving to Edwardsville several years ago, Mr. Karandjeff was general manager of Sunset Hill Cemetery in Edwardsville Township.

There will be an inquest conducted by the Madison County coroner's office. Additional details are given in today's obituary column.

native. The International Trade Commission has found that imports are injuring the steel industry. Now it's up to the president to impose the quotas needed.

Mayor Caliguiri explained that LOFT was formed in the spring of 1984 to bring together local government officials concerned with the impact of imports on several crucial industries, including steel. To date, LOFT membership totals 135 municipal and county officials from 18 states.

"While our first major effort is focused on the steel industry," the mayor said, "Our purpose is broader. We intend to be the voice of the innocent victims of the unfair and illegal trade practicing of other countries."

"Ironically, LOFT is made up of precisely those communities least able to fund a significant public education program on import issues. We are grateful, therefore, to companies and labor organizations in and related to the steel industry for providing funds for the advertising program being announced today," Mayor Caliguiri concluded.

Council rejects some amendments to budget

Although several amendments were suggested as additions to the Granite City 1984-85 budget that was defeated last Friday, only one motion was approved by the council.

The suggestion that was placed in the budget was an additional $41,000 in the street department for a contingency fund. The money was placed in the department after

Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield expressed concern about leaks in the street department building's roof.

Warfield said that the repair of the roof alone could completely wipe out the money that was proposed for building maintenance. He said he would have problems if he had no money available for other maintenance jobs at the department.

Among motions that failed was a suggestion by Alderman Woodrow "Woody" Moad, who asked that three items be cut in the safety department's budget.

Moad requested that the safety incentive program be cut by $2,500, the office supplies by $300 and the operating supplies by $300. Moad said he had similar suggestion in other departments but did not make the motions when the safety amendment did not pass.

Also rejected was a motion by Alderman Carl Kittel to place $1 in the air pollution department, so that the line item would remain open.

Council members opted, however, to place a zero in the department's budget, which City Comptroller Joe Miklovic said, would in effect, keep the account open.

A third amendment not approved was an attempt by Alderman Jake Varadian to discontinue the tax on utilities. Varadian said he feels that now the city is in "the black," citizens should be given a break.

Miklovic advised the council that discontinuing that tax would reduce city revenues by $28,000. With a $101,000 projected surplus, this would put the budget $129,000 in debt.

Council members rejected Varadian's motion.

The council will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in city hall to discuss the budget, the Knights of Columbus zoning ordinance and roof bids for the sewage treatment plant. The council still has not discussed a separate bid for the building which has been prepared for the sewage treatment plant.

KO HALL BURGLARIZED
The former Johnson School, now the Knights of Columbus Hall, 4025 Old Alton Road, was burglarized at 12:10 a.m. Saturday, after unknown subjects entered the building by the roof hatch, which had been left unlocked. Taken was one box containing miscellaneous tools and one jacuzzi pump.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT CASE
Granite City police on Thursday booked Bruce E. Kelly, 39, of the 4100 block of Kirkpatrick Homes for a June aggravated assault. After appearing before Circuit Judge George Moran Jr., he was released on $5,000 recognizance.

BURGLAR TAKES KNIVES
George Davis of Fox Industry Brothers, 9 Fox Industry Drive, Madison, told police early last week that someone took 24 rotary knives. The knives, used to cut metal, are valued at $300 each.

Fourth Consecutive Title Paddlers' divers retain SWISA championship

GODFREY Paddlers' Swim Club's diving coach Gayle McCormick had her doubts whether her team could pull off another Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association championship, but Saturday afternoon those doubts were dashed as the local swimmers bettered other SWISA club members to capture their fourth consecutive title.

"Talk about nerve racking. That's the best way to describe Saturday," McCormick said of the day-long diving competition. "Everyone was real excited and thrilled to compete, and everyone dove well under pressure. Everyone came through."

"We've had some diving championships here, but this one is the best thus far. We've been kind of down this year, but we certainly ended it on a high note."

Gayle McCormick
Paddlers' diving coach

ENROUTE to the championship and 32 team points, Paddlers' bettered a field of six other swim teams. As sweet as Paddlers' success was Saturday, the sweetest part was the victory it earned over Montclair Swim Club of Edwardsville. Montclair, which finished 11 points behind Paddlers' in the final standings, narrowly defeated the local swimmers just 11 days before.

"We've had some diving championships here, but this one is the best thus far. We've been kind of down this year, but we certainly ended it on a high note," McCormick said.

Paddlers' strength McCormick said, came from its team work and willingness to help others succeed.

"WE WERE consistent," no one blew a dive. Everyone was on the money, but as impressed as I was with their diving, I was more touched by the camaraderie," McCormick said.

"The sportsmanship is what I'll remember. They each could have gone home after their dives, but they didn't. They stayed to cheer until the last team member competed. That's team spirit."

The meet, held at Summersport Pool, began at 8:30 a.m. and concluded more than eight hours later.

Enroute to their championship, Paddlers' picked up four first-place finishes. In the 10 and under girls' division, Jenny Baker paced all other competitors to win a gold medal. Baker, who has been one of Paddlers' most consistent divers all season, finished with 103.45 points.

PADDLERS' second gold medal game in boys' 11-12 division as Troy Adamitis garnered 109.5 points for his first place finish.

Paddlers' picked up two firsts in each the boys' and girls' in the 13-14 division. In the boys' competition, Mike McCormick was good enough to pick up 161.55 points enroute to his first place finish while Heather Crane ran away from her competition to score 204.5 points.

As important as Paddlers' first places were to the victory, the local squad couldn't have won without the second, third, fourth- and latter-place finishers which followed.

PICKING UP silver medals for Paddlers' were Carla Williams at 10 and under girls', 86.95 points. Williams' finish, teamed with Baker's, swept the 10 and under girls' competition for Paddlers.

The same was true in the boys' 11-12 division. Following Adamitis' first place finish, Joe Wallace finished second with 101 points for a one-two punch to sweep that competition for Paddlers as well.

Paced by first place finishes by both McCormick and Crane in the 13-14 year-old division, Paddlers continued to cash in in that division as Tom Senezy finished third in the boys' division with 127.1 points while Knollman earned in a 134.2 for fourth place in the girls' competition.

IN THE eldest competition, 15-18 years, Paddlers' divers didn't pick up a first or second, but Kathy Zeugin, Debbie McPherson and Nathan Bailey each placed to add insurance points to Paddlers' total.

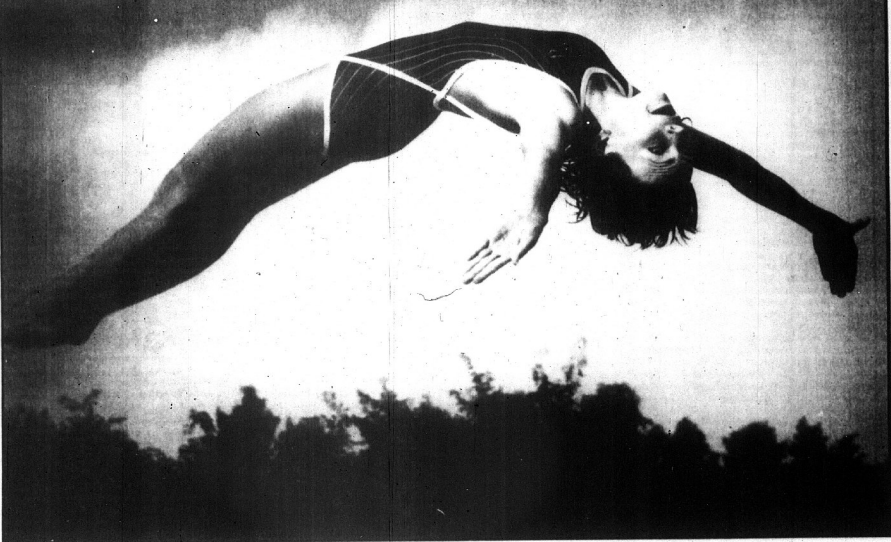

Zeugin, who missed finishing second by five-one hundredths of a point, finished third with 218.5 points. McPherson added a point to Paddlers' final total by finishing sixth with 184.95.

Bailey, Paddlers' only boy to score in the eldest division, added two points to Paddlers' final tally as he finished fifth with 151.85 points. Bailey, who normally competes in the 13-14 division, competed against many athletes as much as three years older.

"I WAS really happy with Nathan," McCormick said. "We were hoping that he would get in there and compete. For him to place was quite a surprise."

With yet another diving championship neatly tucked away, Paddlers' begin looking to this Saturday's SWISA swimming championships. Reigning champions, Paddlers will be looking for their fifth consecutive title. Action begins Saturday at 8:30 a.m. at Paddlers' Swim Club.

TOP FORM. Paddlers' Swim Club 13-14 year old diver Heather Crane displays the kind of form which earned her one of Paddlers' four first places in the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Championships Saturday in Godfrey. Crane, who has been one of Paddlers' premier divers this season, finished with 204.5 points enroute to her championship performance.

In Inter-City Action Merchants victimize Chiefs

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Dennis Gurkin, who must truly love the game of baseball to suffer through the torture and pains of his Chiefs in the Illinois Inter-City League season, has just one thing to look forward to: serving as one of three coaches for the top of the Blue Division in the annual All-Star Game Tuesday night at the Legion Park in Cahokia.

Sunday, at Wilson Park, Charlie Buehler and his O'Fallon Merchants walloped the Chiefs, 4-0 and 16-2. The victory ran O'Fallon's record to 15-5 and dropped the Chiefs to 4-16.

In the opener, Gurkin got a fine pitching job by Ken Crawford, who allowed four runs only two were earned, fanned one and walked just one, while allowing six hits.

In the second contest, Gurkin had Darrell Elmore on the mound and who the Sunday before down in Brooklyn had held the hard-hitting Robins to just four runs.

It just wasn't Elmore's day, however, as the O'Fallon batters promptly jumped on his for 10 runs in the first three innings; one in the first, three in the second and an even six in half-dozen in the third.

Paul Evans came on in relief and looked like he had the O'Fallon hitters under control until the sixth frame when they pushed five runners across.

In the two games, the Chief's best hitters were:

Keith Flaughter, 2 for 6; Ili Roe, 2 for 4; Dennis Gurkin, 2 for 6; Tom Newton, 2 for 6; and Art Williams, 2 for 6.

The Chiefs will play next Sunday at East Alton against the Stags in a twin-bill at 1 p.m. and Van Preter Park.

The Illinois Inter-City Baseball League will play an All-Star game Tuesday, July 31, at 7 p.m. at the American Legion diamond in Cahokia. The game will pit the All-Stars of the Red Division and the Blue Division.

The Red Division will be managed by Barney Davis, manager of Brooklyn Robins, with Ray Harris of McDonalds, Alfred Nation of East Alton Royals and Ricky Star of Cahokia Braves serving as coaches.

The Blue Division will be managed by Charlie Buehler, manager of O'Fallon Merchants, with Kevin Hardin of Metro Wildcats, Randy Robbins of Maryville Red Sox and Dennis Gurkin, manager of Granite City Chiefs serving as coaches.

Players representing the Blue Division will be Mike Harwood, Mike Adkins, Ron Schwarz, Joe Mekallion and Darius Holmes of O'Fallon Merchants, while Darrell Elmore, Dominic Griffin, Milt Roe, Brian Levin, Dennis Gurkin and Rich Takmaigan are the Granite City Chiefs' representatives.

Jim Lansing, Kevin Hardin, John Niederer, Tim Abernathy and Jim Engelage of the Metro Wildcats will play and Steve Blue, Jack Graham, Brian Clawson, Randy Robbins, ST. LOUIS CITY — Said Pat Peterson, business manager of 7-Up Spanky's baseball team: "The fellows are really peaking at the right time aren't they?"

Thursday night at Edwardsville's Hoppe Park Spanky's nearly demolished the Shloh Blue Sox 19-0, in a game mercifully cut to five innings. Saturday night, in a first round game in the annual Missouri State Tournament of the National Baseball Congress, Spanky's nearly murdered a team from Columbia.

At Annual Meeting Fricker is elected new USSF head

NEW YORK — Werner Fricker, who had served as Executive Vice President of the United States Soccer Federation for seven years, was elected President of soccer's national governing body during the USSF's 66th Annual General Meeting July 6-8 in New York City.

In his capacity as America's highest-ranking soccer official, Fricker, 48, will lead the Federation's 1.6 million members, which constitute three divisions — Senior, Youth and Professional. Fricker, the owner of a highly successful building and real estate development company in Montgomery County, Pa., is a resident of Horsham, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia. A former U.S. Olympic Team player in the 1960's, Fricker succeeds Milwaukee's Gene Edwards, who had served as USSF

President the past 10 years.

In assuming the office of president, Fricker acknowledged Edwards' long-term service and contribution to the game of soccer and pledged to carry out the mandate of the delegates who elected him to further continue the development of the sport in the United States.

"With the 1984 Olympic Games just three weeks away, one of my immediate tasks is to seek the cooperation of all USSF affiliates to make certain that every eligible player is available for selection by the National Coach for the U.S. Olympic Soccer Team," stated Fricker.

Other urgent goals we have established are to streamline the administration of the Federation, expand the opportunities for corporate support of all our programs, enhance the status of the United States in world soccer, and unify the efforts of the Youth, Senior and Professional divisions in building soccer into one of the major sports of this country in the next decade."

For Archers Special deer hunt at Lake Sangchris

SPRINGFIELD — An archery deer hunting program under a free permit system will be held on a varied schedule in two areas of Lake Sangchris State Park, southeast of Springfield.

Areas and dates for the hunt are: the park's middle peninsula, Oct. 17 and Dec. 13-31 (excluding Dec. 15, 22, 24, 25); and the north mainland area, north-east of the site headquarters complex and Deer Run campground, Nov. 1-Dec. 31 (excluding Nov. 16, 17, 18, 22 and Dec. 7, 8, 9, 15, 22, 24, 25). The peninsula is accessible only by water and hunters must provide their own boats since none are available for rent at the park.

Permit applications — a written request on a plain sheet of paper — will be accepted Aug. 15 through Aug. 30 by the Conservation Department's Division of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Mail applications to: Department of Conservation, Lake Sangchris, Deer Permit Drawing, Division of Fish and Wildlife Resources, 524 South Second St., Springfield, IL 62706.

Permit requests must list the applicant's name, address, 1984 state archery deer hunting permit number, preferred hunting area and up to seven dates for the hunt.

Permits will be open to hunting. Failure to include any of this information, or selection of incorrect hunting dates, will void the application. Only one application per person will be accepted, and receipt of more than one from the same individual will void all submitted by that person.

However, applicants from two hunting partners will be accepted in the same envelope if both choose the same hunting dates.

There will be 35 permits available each day for the peninsula and 20 each day for the north mainland area. Hunters must have the permit in their possession while in the field. Permits will be allocated Aug. 31 at a special drawing in the office of the Division of Fish and Wildlife Resources, 600 N. Grand Ave. West, Springfield.

Permits will be sent to successful applicants before Sept. 23. Unsuccessful applicants will not be notified.

Permit holders must sign a hunting registration sheet at the site headquarters before 8 a.m. on each of their assigned hunting days or lose their hunting privileges for that day. After 8 a.m. unclaimed permits will be re-assigned to stand-by hunters on a first-come, first-served basis. All hunters, including those on stand-by, who fail to log in and out of the areas each day will be subject to arrest.

To be eligible for any of the Sangchris Lake Stand-by Archery Deer Permits that may become available each day, stand-by hunters must line up in single file in their vehicles before 8 a.m.

For further information on the Sangchris Lake hunt, call the Division of Fish and Wildlife Resources at (217) 782-6384.

In Junior Legion Baseball East St. Louis edges Mitchell for Jr. crown

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

EAST ALTON—The Mitchell Junior American Legion baseball team exploded for five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to boost the club to a 6-5 victory over Bethalto on Sunday afternoon for the East Division championship of the Metro East Junior American Legion playoffs.

But Mitchell couldn't pull off the come-from-behind routine against East St. Louis. The East St. Louis team, which had defeated O'Fallon 12-5 earlier in the afternoon for the West Division championship, claimed the league's overall first-place trophy by defeating Mitchell 8-5. Mitchell scored four of its five runs in the top of the seventh before East St. Louis stopped the rally.

"I knew we weren't going to go much farther because we had just one hit going into the (seventh) inning," said Mitchell coach Myron Merz. "But I'm sure proud of these guys coming as far as they did."

"We went into the season thinking we could beat a lot of ballclubs and we did. I'm not disappointed at all."

Mitchell's sole hit prior to the seventh inning was a home run to right field off the bat of pitcher Sam Tate. East St. Louis hurler Sylvester Harold had been effective in keeping Mitchell's bats quiet throughout the game, up until getting in trouble during the final inning.

ALTHOUGH forcing Derek Merz to ground out in the seventh, Harold walked Fred Becker and Greg Nemeth. Eric Gray hit a single to center to drive home Becker and put the score at 8-2. Randy Burgess followed with a triple to center and scored on the play when the throw from outfielder Duane Hawthorne went wild past third base. Mitchell closed East St. Louis' lead to 8-5.

Cedric Baker was sent to the mound in relief for Harold, but Greg Ehlers ripped a double to left to keep Mitchell's hopes alive. The inning ended, however, when Gerald Becker grounded out to the pitcher and Sam Tate was called out on strikes for the final out of the game.

EAST ST. LOUIS coach Jim Collins said the game pivoted around his team's five-run drive in the fourth inning.

"I thought that whoever would get out on top first would win," said Collins. "Both teams had already played one game earlier in the day and it seemed to have worn them down for the championship. Nobody was getting any hits early in the game."

"I thought it was a matter of just one guy getting a good solid hit and the rest would follow. The momentum would stay with us."

First baseman Jim Collins took his father's words to heart by getting a single in the bottom of the fourth. East St. Louis followed with four more hits—including a triple by Larry Stricklin and doubles by Fred Kinbrough, Werner Martin and Anthony Smith. Although Tate had allowed only two hits prior to the inning while striking out six batters, East St. Louis jumped on top 5-0 with their fifth-inning drive.

"SAM" (Tate) was holding them fine before then," said Merz. "Since we weren't getting any hitting, that one inning sure hurt us."

However, Mitchell also had scoring blitzes of their own during the league playoffs. The most impressive turnaround of the day came Sunday afternoon when Mitchell scored five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to take a 6-5 margin over Bethalto.

"I was worried before that," said Merz. "All the coaches were. But we told the guys that four or five singles would get us back in the ball game. That's exactly what happened."

BOOKER led off the inning with a single to left. Tate then struck out and in anger tossed his bat toward the dugout. The action didn't go unnoticed, as he was ejected from the game by the home plate umpire.

Steve Davis knocked a long fly to left for a stand-up triple that drove in Booker and put the score at 5-2. Becker followed with a sacrifice fly to right that brought Davis home and narrowed the lead to 5-3.

After pitcher Tim Kutz walked Merz, Bethalto coach Brian Paris decided to send Matt Jones to the mound.

"HE'S PITCHED well for us this season," said Paris. "His record was 5-1. I decided the game would be up to him, win or lose."

Jones got into trouble by walking Nemeth. The hit, barrage then started—with singles by Eric Gray, Randy Burgess and Bill Moore. The hits sent home three runs and gave Mitchell a 6-5 lead—their first of the game.

Bethalto tried their own comeback attempt in the seventh by working their way to base runners at second and first with two men out. But relief pitcher Booker got some help when catcher Merz picked off runner Mark Paris at first when Paris strayed too far off the base during a pitch.

"HE (first baseman Davis) called my name," said catcher Merz. In the RUNNERS UP. Members of the Mitchell Athletic Club Junior American Legion baseball team won it all but the big one during the weekend's Metro-East Playoffs. The team, which made it a habit of coming back in the late innings, couldn't pull it off against East St. Louis, losing in the championship game Sunday night. Team members include (beginning front left) Steve Davis, Randy Burgess, Greg Nemeth, Tim Groves, Derek Merz, and Eric Gray. dictating the tipoff for the pickoff play. "I just looked down and shook my head."

After the pickoff throw, Mitchell's players began their victory celebration. Bethalto, meanwhile, seemed stunned.

"We haven't lost too many like that," said coach Paris. "But we left too many stranded. I figured we would need seven or eight runs to win. That's about the way it turned out to be."

Mitchell had worked their way in to Sunday's play by defeating Greenville 4-2 on Saturday evening. Tim Gray pitched a two-hitter and had a shutout after six innings of play. However, he exited the game after giving up three walks in the seventh. Eric Gray recorded the save.

MERZ drove in two runs during the game while Nemeth drove in one run on a squeeze play in the fourth inning.

Mitchell upped their record to 20-7 in league action with their two wins and one loss in the playoffs. League

In Playoffs

Bethalto ends GC Juniors' season

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

EAST ALTON—Bethalto put a quick stop to Granite City's attempt at an upset victory Saturday morning in the Metro East Junior American Legion playoffs.

Granite City, which had squeezed by the Alton Optimists 3-2 on Thursday, watched 11 Bethalto runners cross the plate in the third inning. Bethalto went on to coast to a 17-7 victory.

"They hit the ball well," said Granite City coach Paul Kacera. "We also worked the mound. With that combination, you aren't going to win."

However, Kacera did mention that errors, which have plagued Granite City during most of its losses this season—played no factor in the Saturday defeat.

"WE DIDN'T bust even one ball," said Kacera. "I'd rather lose any game by giving up hits than by making errors."

Granite City jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, but Bethalto jumped back with two runs in the bottom of the inning. When Granite City tied the game at 2-2 in the third, Bethalto decided to put the game out of reach by scoring 11 runs.

Doug Wooden earned the win for Bethalto and Tim Bateman recorded the save. Jay Valbert was tagged with the loss for Granite City.

In Thursday's game against the Alton Optimists, Granite City kept the game out of the contest by maintaining a lead throughout the ball game. Valbert knocked a single to right to drive home Tim Hogan and Jamie Hogan for a 2-0 margin in the first inning.

ALTON scored one run off an error by Todd Himsler in the second, but Granite City came right back when Todd Adamitis singled in pitcher Scott LeVault in the third.

LeVault guarded the lead by striking out eight batters during the contest and forcing eight batters to fly out. He walked only one man during the game.

"It was probably the best game he pitched all year," said Kacera. "He had good control with the location of his pitches."

Alton pitcher Jody Markel was taken off the mound in the fifth inning when he walked the first three Granite City batters. Relief pitcher Dave Grabner earned a round of applause from the Alton fans after he got Adamitis to pop out and then struck out Valbert and Rich Wilson to end the inning.

"YOU'VE got to give him (Grabner) credit," said Kacera. "He saved them from getting blown out."

LeVault did his own saving in the fifth after giving up two hits that put the score at 5-2. LeVault forced a fly out and a ground out before striking out Ron Skrabacz for the final out of the inning.

LeVault kept the bases empty for the remaining two innings. Granite City exited the playoffs with a 13-14 league record. Kacera said opposing coaches have told him they expect Granite City's young team to be near the top of the league next season.

"Several of the coaches told me we should be a powerhouse next season," Kacera said. "But I'm not making any predictions."

"Inexperience cost us a lot of ballgames this year. But that's what this league is for—to help the players learn."

Another Smith wins modified event

By JOE SENTER
for the Press-Record

Another Smith win in the modified stock car feature ended Friday night at Tri-City Speedway. This time it was Marty Smith of Cahokia driving his No. 88 modified Chevy Chevette to victory.

Ba. Smith of St. Charles, Mo. has been the one to beat driving a 1984 Plymouth Arrow powered by a Chevy engine, but he fell victim to mechanical problems.

The feature showed some very exciting driving from start to finish as "Randy" Weeks of Granite City was pressuring Smith around the one-half mile dirt track. Weeks, broadsliding his Camaro No. 26 through the large turns, could not catch the flying Smith and had to settle for second place. Scott Gaechel of Collinsville was third and Don Delosh of St. Louis fourth.

John Seets of Brighton took the modified stock race and the trophy dash with Marty Smith second in the dash and Delosh third and the fourth. Weeks also finished fourth in his heat race.

Mike Young of Wood River, Ill. took the sportsman's feature event with Steve Quarterhouse second and Lou Fritz third. Mike Seets of Brighton, Ill. won the heat, with Mike Young of Wood River the winner of the trophy dash followed by Jim Lafferty second.

Larry Stark of Godfrey won the street stock car feature followed by Sharon Roads, the lady driver from Bunker Hill, second and Mel Buder third. Jerry Gose, of St. Charles, won the heat race.

Walton Mertzy of Collinsville took the win in the street car elimination race of a total 29 entries and Gordon Martin of Granite City was second.

Sports of all Sorts

Just a few gripes

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

As one circulates around town, you hear a lot of gripes about things in general and, what interests me most of all, things not just right in the area of sports.

Right now, I have three topics concerning athletes in general and sports in particular.

But, first before getting down to specifics, I want to make mention of the uproar at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville triggered by the decision by Dr. Jim Buck in dropping the Cougars' men tennis program.

Practically, every newspaper and most electronic media outlets have raked up the school and Buck over the well-known-coals for his decision.

But, back to the three local gripes.

No one, which apparently may have been a false alarm, was the reported claim that the Board of Education had dropped baseball at the two remaining junior high schools.

Kelly Hogan, a member of the board, when interviewed at a junior American Legion baseball game recently at Varsity Field, assured me that it wasn't true. Joe Fedora, in charge of athletics for Unit 9, explained that the problem was that, with the closing of one of the junior highs, there wasn't enough opponents to play.

Second item of concern was the rumor that the installation of a fish-net, twice backstop behind home plate at Varsity Field up and above the regular wire backstop to catch the almost constant flight of baseballs onto Fehling Road and the wheat field had been OK'd by the Board, but as who would have the duty to erect the net was deliberately dragging his feet.

Not so, it turns out.

In checking the backstop item out, I was told that Ron Landman was the man to talk to. Which I did.

Says Landman, "Not so. I know nothing of it." Neither did Fedora or Dave Partney, president of the Board.

I had called Partney about both the decision to drop baseball at the junior high schools and the extra backstops, plus Fedora's decision not to permit anyone renting the Varsity Field facility to use the electric scoreboard or the PA system during their games.

I told Partney that I had promised to furnish the Unit with a cash bond to guarantee the safe return in like-new condition of the electric scoreboard and the PA system.

That proposal was made two years ago and repeated to Fedora just last week. He suggested that I write to the Board.

These three items can be worked out to better serve the public.

Fans watching baseball games at Varsity Field have a right to know what the score is on the electric scoreboard at all times. The public, in driving past the diamond, have a right to be protected against a foul ball crashing against and breaking their windshields. Jim McKechnan, a real good sports fan, says the Board should ask for volunteers to help solve whatever problems facing the junior high school baseball programs. "Civic and public groups stand ready to help raise funds to help finance these programs," McKechnan said.

I think he's right.

1984: The Year of the Duck Stamp

Secretary of the Interior William Clark praised President Reagan's signing of a special proclamation designating the first week of July as "National Duck Stamp Week" and 1984 as the "Golden Anniversary Year of the Duck Stamp" during a ceremony held July 3 in the White House Rose Garden. Clark also applauded Congressional passage of a joint resolution marking the events.

"The ceremony and passage of the resolution by Congress recognize one of the most important Federal conservation efforts — one that for 50 years has been saving vital wetland areas so important to this Nation's wildlife heritage," Secretary Clark said.

Duck Stamps (formally known as Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamps) are required of all waterfowl hunters 16 years of age or older. Since the program began in 1934, nearly 89 million Duck Stamps have been sold, raising $285 million for the purchase of 3.5 million acres of habitat on 186 national wildlife refuges and many waterfowl production areas.

"Wetlands were once considered wastelands," Secretary Clark said. "Fortunately, that attitude is changing as more and more Americans — whether they are campers, birdwatchers, nature photographers, hunters, or fishermen — realize the unique value of these special places. The purchase of a Duck Stamp is one way in which all Americans can participate directly in the preservation of this Nation's wetland habitat and the wildlife dependent upon it."

The Duck Stamp program was put into effect in 1934 through the efforts of nationally known cartoonist and conservationist J. N. "Ding" Darling. During those early years, ducks, geese, and other migratory waterfowl were threatened by drought and loss of wetland nesting habitat to agriculture.

Darling, an Iowan, wanted to provide a dependable source of funding to preserve this habitat and the Duck Stamp program proved to be the key. While aimed primarily at waterfowl, wetland areas acquired from Duck Stamp funds also benefit many other kinds of fish and wildlife.

The 50th anniversary Duck Stamp for 1984-1985 went on sale for $7.50 at most post offices and selected national wildlife refuges July 2.

Chouteau collector calls for law protecting town collectors

Michael Johnson, Chouteau Township tax collector, read letters to the Chouteau Town Board, last week he had written to Michael Henkhaus, county treasurer; Morris Miles, county board member; State Representative John Wolf and Jim McPike, and State Senator Sam Vadala. Each of the letters addressed the lateness of the 1983 property tax bills and the cash flow problems it is causing many of the taxing bodies in Madison County. Johnson asked that the county board support resolution adopted on July 12 by the Madison County Township Officials that would help speed up the tax billing process in Madison County. The resolution asks that, in future years if the property tax bills are not ready by June 1, that the Madison County Board do everything within its power to see that an estimated tax bill is sent to every Madison County taxpayer. The estimate would be based on the previous year's taxes for the first installment and the total tax bill could be adjusted on the second installment.

Johnson explained that estimated billing could eliminate some of the borrowing that some of the taxing bodies are forced to do while waiting for tax disbursements.

Johnson asked Wolf and McPike and Sen. Vadala to support legislation which would extend the Sept. 1 cutoff date for town collectors. (Illinois statutes state that property tax bills should be ready by June 1, or as soon thereafter as possible, and town collectors shall have the sole collection and distribution duties until the Sept. 1 cutoff date, at which time the county treasurer would assume these duties.)

Johnson went on to explain that there is a very distinct possibility that the 1983 property tax bills in Madison County won't be ready until after the Sept. 1 cutoff date. Illinois statutes assume that the township tax collectors have three months (June, July, and August) in which to do their collection duties. If the tax bills are not sent out until after Sept. 1, then this assumption would prove to be very incorrect, and the township collectors would get squeezed out of performing the duties they were elected to do, Johnson reported.

He noted that Rep. Wolf said that he could support legislation that would extend the Sept. 1 cutoff date by one day for each day the bills are late after June 1. Johnson said that Wolf could support estimated tax bills, but Wolf said the real goal is to get the bills out on time and eliminate the added expense of estimated bills.

Johnson also outlined the duties of the town collector. He emphasized that there is a great deal more involved in being town collector than merely stamping tax bills and sending people on their way. Johnson said he spends many hours talking to the citizens of the township helping them with Circuit Breaker forms, Senator Bill 1799 forms, Homestead Exemptions and others. He said that on quite a few occasions he had even made house calls to the elderly to help them with their exemption forms on problems they might have with their escrow accounts for property taxes.

Some of the elderly citizens have no transportation and, in other cases, their efforts to get help at the county level has failed. Johnson explained that they come to him because they feel comfortable with him and they know that they will be helped. This exemplifies why township government is called "grassroots" — it is a government that people can trust in, he contended.

Johnson went on to say that it seems as if every citizen in the county has a different conception as to why the tax bills are late this year. Many people are blaming James Barton, supervisor of assessments. Barton, in turn, blames the township assessors. Others blame the Board of Review or Mick Henkhaus, the county treasurer. Johnson pointed out that if the tax bills are not out until after Sept. 1, that the collection process will be handled by Henkhaus' office. Henkhaus has gone on record as saying he is against township collectors. Johnson said the town board could draw its own conclusion as to how Henkhaus would feel if his office collects both installments and handles all the tax money.

posed to township officials. Barton, in the July 13 issue of the "Alton Telegraph" was quoted as saying, "Township assessors should be replaced with a single official responsible for assessments. The official would be appointed by the county board and serve at the pleasure of the board."

Johnson warned the Chouteau Board of the potential danger of this situation, and how it would disenfranchise the local citizens by taking away their votes, and not allowing them to have a voice as to who their public officials would be.

Johnson went on to say that if Henkhaus and Barton had their way, who would be next on the "hit list?" He asked, "Will it be the township supervisor? Or perhaps the town clerk or highway commissioner?"

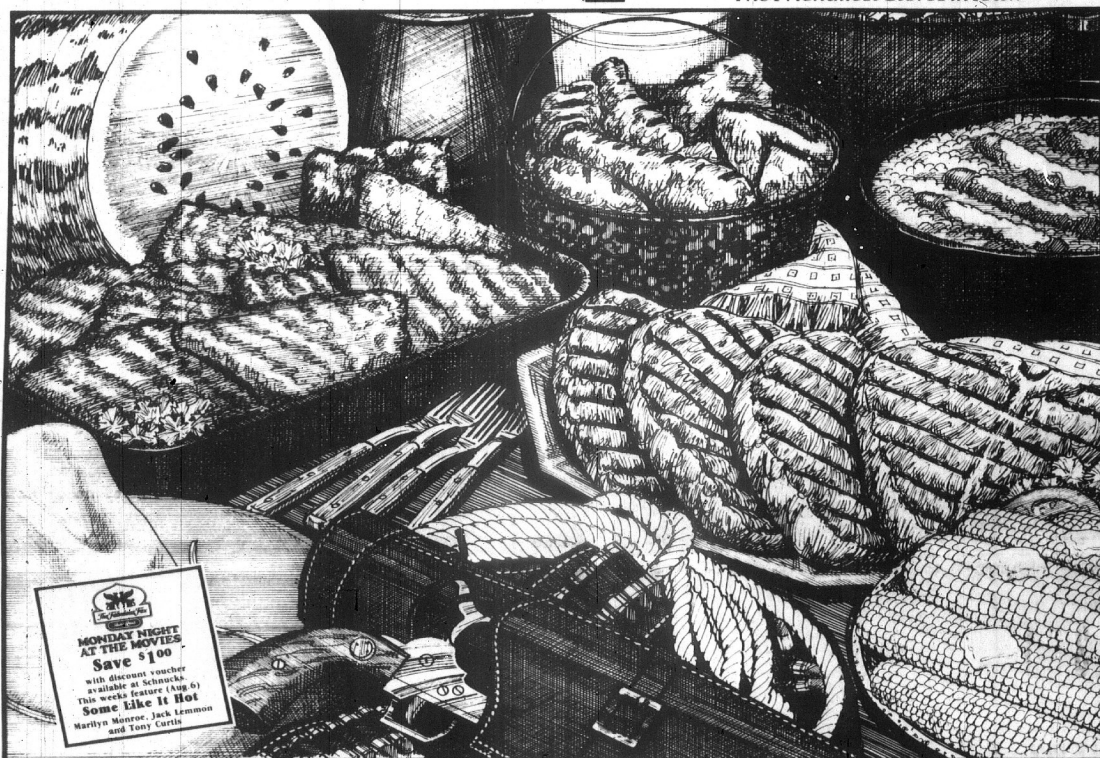

Johnson pledged he will not sit around while township government is gradually destroyed by squeezing out various town officials one at a time. He asked the board for their support and encouraged them to do everything within their power to preserve township government.

Bringing you the Best.

DECEPTIVE PRACTICE ALLEGED IN WARRANT

Robert M. Barnhart, 36, of 821a Niedringhaus Ave., was arrested there last week on an active warrant alleging deceptive practice.

While still in custody, Barnhart was booked on another deceptive practice charge in complaints signed by the National Hearing Aid Distributors of Boston, Mass., and Madison County Hearing Aid Service at 20 Crossroads Plaza.

The latter charge involved the alleged payment by two checks, amounting to $228 and $348, for merchandise delivered by the postal service, with the checks returned by the First National Bank in Madison marked "insufficient funds."

Nothing appeared to be missing from the dwelling, she told officers. The intruder was in his early 20's, about 5 feet, 7 inches tall, slender with short brown hair. He was wearing jeans, but no shirt, she said.

RELEASED ON BOND

Timothy S. Callender, 24, of 2337 Terminal Ave., was arrested in the 2300 block of Grand Avenue last week on an active warrant alleging failure to appear in court on a charge of not having a city sticker. He was released upon posting a $52 cash bond.

Campus group taking Christianity to Chinese people this summer

(A report by Bill Winter Jr., 22, Granite City, on his experiences so far this summer in Hong Kong and Canton with Campus Crusade for Christ. Hong Kong has been in the news often lately because of negotiations on its scheduled transfer in 1997 from British to Chinese control.)

I'm growing a lot, learning a lot and developing some good friendships. We're working hard but enjoying it.

We've found that Hong Kong is a land of extremes of poverty and wealth.

KOWLOON LOOKS like Chicago. There aren't any open spaces, everything is crowded.

After a 45-minute bus ride from Hong Kong Airport, where there were security guards with machine guns, we walked into our camp on a dirt road for three-quarters of a mile.

We walked past some of the worst poverty conditions I've ever seen, and then walked by some new houses.

THE WEATHER is hot and humid. We all constantly drip with perspiration. Clothes have to be hand-washed every night, and it takes a long time for them to dry.

We eat all our food with chopsticks. Breakfast is usually noodles and bread, while lunch and supper are rice with about three other items to eat to it, such as sweet and sour foods.

The Chinese don't drink with their meals. They get moisture from the steamed rice and noodles. They don't use napkins.

Hong Kong is divided into three main areas.

HONG KONG ISLAND is scenic. We went to Victoria Peak at night and viewed all of Hong Kong. It was beautiful, with nearly as many lights as Las Vegas.

We took a ferry across Hong Kong harbor. Hong Kong itself means "Fragrant Harbor."

We were returning to Kowloon aboard the ferry after going from Kowloon to Hong Kong Island by bus through a tunnel that literally goes under the bay.

Kowloon and Hong Kong Island are the tourist areas. Kowloon is fast-paced and there are thousands of electronics stores and tall buildings.

WE HAD SUPPER one night at Pizza Hut, our first American food of the summer. They also have Burger King, Wendy's, McDonald's, Holiday Inn, Sheraton and much more.

Eleven stores around in all of Hong Kong and my church here is located over a 7-Eleven.

The third area of Hong Kong is the New Territories. The camp we live at is in the Yuen Long District of the New Territories.

OUR CAMPAIGN is directed to three territories—Yuen Long, Tuen Mun and Kam Tin. Their total population is 600,000.

The campaign has the title, "Where Then Is My Home?" The phrase refers to heaven.

We have project T-shirts that we wear. The shirts have a unique symbol on them and writing in English and Chinese.

Our crusade is associated with 27 churches in the three districts. Planning for this campaign went on for one year, and the amount of work that occurred was tremendous.

OUR PURPOSE is to reach these districts with the gospel and to help meet needs and social concerns.

The 27 churches are from many diverse denominations, and the unity shown is incredible. It would be difficult to have this happen in the U.S.

Four hundred people are involved in the campaign, including our group of 56 American university students.

The campaign is in three parts. THE FIRST WEEK was focused on high schools. We visited numerous high schools and received warm welcomes.

We assembled a basketball team to play the local varsity teams.

We presented concerts, including a Bluegrass band that does "Country Roads" and numerous Bluegrass songs. One of the guys is a good banjo player.

WE GAVE SKITS and a variety of musical events. One group chose the '80s look, wearing sunglasses, and did Billy Joel's "For the Longest Time." Our speakers included those giving Christian testimonies.

I have played the guitar and sung in these concerts, and I also sometimes help lead the worship here. Yesterday, I spoke with the help of a translator to more than 1,200 people at a high school.

At one of the schools visited, a combination middle school and high school, a group of 13-year-old girls gave me some carnations.

MANY HAVE MADE commitments to Christ. We have had time to spend with individuals in follow-up, helping them to get established in Christian life.

We also have had "outreaches" on the beach (while also swimming and sunbathing) and at other places.

There have been many favorable results. God has been blessing our work, and the people seem to genuinely appreciate our being here.

WE HAD A BIG outreach at Yik Yuen, a government housing project behind our camp. It is similar to Kirkpatrick Homes. We had favorable responses there, too.

We have encountered many children. Children seem to be much the same, all around the world.

A few days ago we were involved in a tree planting and area beautification program sponsored by the government. It involved us and many other groups, including some Girl Scout troops.

IN A FEW DAYS we will begin teaching English to several hundred people. I've already had some experience doing this.

We get one day off each week, usually Tuesday. I and three friends climbed a mountain near our camp, a rugged climb. We gained a beautiful view of the ocean and all of Hong Kong.

Since I didn't go to Philmont (Boy Scouts' big ranch in New Mexico) this year, the mountain climb was like "having my cake and eating it, too."

There is much to see and learn. We've been hearing some of the Chinese language. There are two major dialects, Cantonese and Mandarin.

MANDARIN is the more used throughout China and the world, but Cantonese is spoken in the Canton, China, area and in Hong Kong.

There is so much going on that at times it is hard to take everything in. We work with Chinese Christians. When interpreters aren't around, it is difficult and humbling—but also fun—to talk with Chinese who don't speak much English. Sign language, a sign and a good sense of humor are the keys.

I'm learning a lot about the Chinese culture and have become proficient with chopsticks.

A FREQUENT QUESTION from the kids here is "Can you Break dance?" Another is, "Do you like Michael Jackson?"

The word for our 1984 summer among the Chinese is flexibility.

It was difficult for some of the U.S. college students to adapt but I had an easier time. Partially because of time spent as a ranger at Philmont, it was easy to adjust to the living conditions.

Also, my contact with Asian friends in Illinois and Missouri, the Thais and Malaysians, provided helpful exposure to the Eastern culture.

Already we have learned much from our new Chinese friends.

THEY ARE HUMBLE and real servants and we are striving to become more like that.

It is so good to help many people and I believe this summer will prove to be worthwhile as well as educational. I'm having a truly great time.

We had an opportunity to spend four days in Canton on the mainland of China. Guangzhou is the Chinese name for Canton, pronounced Gu-wang-chow.

WE VISITED a jade factory, a stone works industry and a silk factory. We also toured many historical sites.

Our hotel in Canton was modern and plush. We toured much of the city and visited a commune, which included a school and individual homes.

We stopped at a number of stores and bought inexpensive souvenirs, including silk paintings, Chinese hats, ornate, woven pictures, cork carvings and porcelain spoons and bowls.

MUCH OF CANTON is modern. It is one of the most Westernized cities in China, and Coke and orange soda are popular.

But the life there is much different than in the U.S. It really makes you appreciate the freedoms we have in America.

Our rooms were "bugged" and our mail was censored. Elevators, buses and restaurants also were bugged. They watched us closely.

THE MAIN REASONS for our trip to Canton were to expand our vision and strengthen East-West relations as well as bolster Campus Crusade's relations with China.

A number of the top government officials had stayed in California with Dr. Bill Bright, founder and president of Campus Crusade, and these officials were impressed with the whole operation.

The Chinese we met in Canton treated us like royalty. Our tour guide, Miss Liu, was knowledgeable. I enjoyed her talks but she gave us a lot of propaganda. "Ever since the 'liberation,' people are happy and content, and life is so much better."

THE FINAL NIGHT in Canton, we had a banquet with some of the government officials. It was supposed to be 12 courses, but we counted 11.

The highlight was when they brought in a whole roast pig and sliced off the skin for us, supposedly quite a delicacy in China. We also had other interesting food to eat—squid, octopus and fungus soup.

The Athletics in Action (a Campus Crusade group) soccer team stayed with us a few weeks ago after a long tour in China. They had Peking duck (in Peking) in which the head was brought out, spit open, and the brain was served. They also had duck tongue soup with a lot of little duck tongues floating in it.

Now the AIA basketball team is staying here at the Ling Liang camp with us.

THE ATHLETES in Action basketball player nearest to my home is from Arlington Heights in the Chicago area. An AIA soccer player from Webster Groves mentioned that he would be home in time for the VFL Pro July 4th in St. Louis.

One of the Campus Crusade members here is from Chesterfield, Mo., and goes to the Chicago Gospel Church in Webster Groves.

Our camp's name, Ling Liang, means "Bread of Life," a Biblical name for Jesus.

CUB recruits 10,000 members

Illinois' newest consumer advocacy organization, the Citizens Utility Board, announced that it has recruited its first 10,000 members—just three weeks into its statewide membership solicitation drive. And, according to the group's interim president, CUB is well on the way toward meeting its goal of 100,000 members by year's end.

"With the tremendous response we've gotten in the first three weeks alone," said Howard Lerner, "CUB has taken a giant step. It's a sure sign that Illinois consumers seek membership in CUB as an effective way of fighting back against rising utility rates."

CUB kicked off its membership drive in late June, delivering to Illinois telephone companies 1.5 million brochures to be enclosed in the July bills of residential and utility rates.

CUB currently is run by an 11-member interim board appointed earlier this year by the governor and state legislative leaders.

Membership in CUB costs $5 per year, and those wishing to join may write to CUB at Post Office Box 1164, Glenview, Ill. 60025.

Nursing home costs is program topic

Ron Johnson, president of Marquette Agencies, Minneapolis, Minn., will be the guest speaker at the Five Star Club meeting Wednesday, Aug. 1, at the Niedringhaus Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m.

Johnson, the designer of a new form of insurance now available in Illinois, which covers skilled nursing care. As people grow older the possibility of a stay in the nursing home becomes more probable, and according to statistics the average stay is a year and three months, resulting in a cost of more than $25,000. Many people think these costs are paid by Medicare and Medicaid. Actually they pay very little and sometimes nothing. This program should be very informative to all senior citizens, according to Enylee Alford.

Vince Aiello, administrator of the Edwardsville Care Center, will be present to answer any questions you may have regarding nursing homes in general. All senior citizens are invited to attend, Mrs. Alford added.

small business phone customers. State law gives CUB unique authority to communicate with consumers with such enclosures in the bills of electric, gas, telephone and water utility companies. CUB will begin a series of consumer messages on postcard bills in September.

Lerner added that CUB has met another important goal. "Under state law, CUB must recruit 10,000 members within three years, or it must go out of business. We met that goal in three weeks. CUB will be in business for a long time. We're getting stronger every day," Lerner said.

CUB members will vote for the permanent board of directors this December, with a director being elected in each of Illinois' 22 Congressional Districts. Only CUB members are eligible to run for the board, and only members may vote.

Ballots will be cast by mail.

CUB currently is run by an 11-member interim board appointed earlier this year by the governor and state legislative leaders.

Membership in CUB costs $5 per year, and those wishing to join may write to CUB at Post Office Box 1164, Glenview, Ill. 60025.

SOME IRS NOTICES SENT IN ERROR

The Internal Revenue Service said that some taxpayers who filed Form 2210, Underpayment of Estimated Tax by Individuals, claiming an exception for the estimated tax penalty may have been sent erroneous penalty notices.

The IRS said that these taxpayers should review their copy of the Form 2210 and the penalty notice to determine if the penalty is in error. If the notice appears to be incorrect, taxpayers should send a copy of the notice and Form 2210 together with a letter of explanation to their IRS service center.

DOC answers request for more swimming beaches

A 200-foot square buoyed swimming area with an adjacent sandy beach was recently opened to the public at Stephen A. Forbes Fish and Wildlife Area Lake, near Salem.

According to Chuck Tammings, associate director for land and historical sites for the Department of Conservation (DOC), DOC is investigating the possibility of opening beaches at other sites in the state. Construction of another beach began earlier this month at Eagle Creek State Park, on Lake Shelbyville, in Shelby County.

Until now, swimming was only possible at concrete pools at several sites and on the Lake Michigan shoreline, at Illinois Beach State Park. The Rocky Point Beach project at Forbes Lake marks a new effort by the DOC to provide swimming opportunities for park users.

The decision to explore the possibility of opening other swimming beaches in the state reflects DOC's response to public demand, as reflected in a survey indicating swimming is the most popular recreational pursuit in the state, he said.

"Research went into the creation of the State Comprehensive Outdoor Recreational Plan, (SCORP) showed that nearly one third of Illinois residents swim for recreation," Tammings said. "In fact, swimming edged out fishing as the most popular pastime. The department is trying to meet this need for additional swimming areas at sites which meet the required health, aesthetic and topographic criteria."

For more details about the beach or other park facilities, interested persons may contact: Site Superintendent, Stephen A. Forbes Fish and Wildlife Area, Kinnums, Ill., 62554, 1-347-3381.

'Rediscover Cahokia' is August 11-12

Demonstrations of Indian crafts and guided tours of archaeological excavations will be among the highlights of "Rediscover Cahokia," a two-day open house set from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 11-12 at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site, near East St. Louis.

Co-sponsored by the Cahokia Mound Museum and the Department of Conservation, Rediscover Cahokia will feature demonstrations of Indian crafts typical of the Mississippian period. Indians of the Mississippian Culture, a group dependent upon a highly developed system of agriculture, occupied Cahokia when the city was at its zenith between 900 and 1500 A.D. Among the crafts to be demonstrated during the Rediscover Cahokia are: bead weaving, basket making, tool making, pottery making and flint knapping.

Visitors can get a better idea of what life was like for prehistoric residents of Cahokia by trying their hand at flint knapping, tool making, bead weaving or pottery making.

In addition to craft demonstrations, authentic Indian dances will be performed several times daily.

Guided tours of the Cahokia Mounds site will feature stops at the partially reconstructed wooden stockade which once surrounded the six square-mile city and an examination of "Woodhenge," the sophisticated solar observatory built by the ancient Cahokians. Tour participants also will get a behind the scenes look at the archaeological digs currently underway at the site.

Food and refreshments will be available at the site.

For more information about Rediscover Cahokia, contact the site superintendent at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site, 7850 Collinsville Rd., East St. Louis, Ill. 62201; phone (618) 344-5268.

Job outlook is brighter for new college graduates

The job outlook for new college graduates is much better than it was a year ago, Max Hansel, acting coordinator of Career Planning and Placement at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, announced today.

Hansel reported that the number of job offers in nearly every discipline covered in the College Placement Council's salary survey is higher than last year at this time, with bachelor's degree candidates receiving 42,393 job offers, compared with 33,604 last July.

HOWEVER, STARTING salaries have remained fairly stable. In the majority of disciplines recording salary gains, the increases hovered between two and five percent.

Petroleum engineers received the highest salary offers, averaging $29,568 a year. While this figure was well above the averages for all other disciplines, it had dropped 4.1 percent since last year.

Chemical engineers received the second highest salary offers, averaging $27,420 a year for a 2.6 percent gain. Electrical engineering moved into third place with an average annual offer of $26,536.

THE HUMANITIES and social sciences both improved their status in terms of rank. Traditionally holding the lowest positions on the salary scale, their average annual offers of $17,724, respectively, put them ahead of agricultural and biological sciences.

The three business disciplines each received significantly more job offers than last year at this time. They also reported higher salary averages, with increases ranging from four to five percent.

Computer science recorded a major increase in reported job offers, a 5.4 percent increase bringing the annual average to $24,552.

A COMPARISON of salary offers to men and women reveals no significant differences among engineers. Hansel said women fared slightly better in some engineering categories, while men received higher offers in others.

However, women were not so lucky in the other disciplines. In business, humanities, social sciences and sciences, the average salary offers to women were lower than those offers for men, except in agriculture. In the agricultural sciences, women averaged $17,070 a year compared to the men's average of $16,992.

The job outlook at the master's level also brightened appreciably. The recruiting year drew to a close. Most graduate programs recorded more offers and higher starting salaries.

HANSEL SAID the market especially picked up for Master of Business Administration graduates. MBA graduates with non-technical undergraduate degrees received a healthy increase in the number of offers and a 7.2 percent increase in an annual salary average, bringing the figure to $28,500.

Electrical engineering captured the top dollar figure with an average of $31,000 a year for graduates with a master's degree, Hansel said.

Paper presented at conference

Joanne Callander, a senior at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville majoring in English, has been invited to present a paper to the Fifteenth Annual International Conference of the Committee for the Advancement of Early Studies.

The meeting is set for Oct. 26-27 at Ball State University in Indiana. Miss Callander's paper is entitled "Jungian Reflections in 'Romeo and Juliet,' 'Julius Caesar' and 'Hamlet.'" The paper is eligible for a prize to be awarded in a ceremony on the evening of Oct. 27.

MISS CALLANDER did her research and writing on the paper as part of the course work in Shakespeare's Tragedies, which she took in Summer 1993. Her teacher, Professor Dickie Spurgeon, suggested that she submit it for the Lewis and Pauline Fifield Undergraduate Prize in Early Studies Competition, which resulted in the invitation to read.

"The SIUE department of English language and literature is quite proud of our student, Miss Callander, and of the instructor, Professor Spurgeon, for achieving this recognition of excellent scholarship," said Jean Kittrell, department chair.

'My Fair Lady' brings summer shows to finale

The Lerner and Loewe classic of the musical stage, "My Fair Lady," will bring Summer Show Biz '94 at Southern Illinois University to a fitting conclusion.

Opening Thursday, Aug. 2, with curtain at 8:15 p.m., the show will continue on the same schedule on Aug. 3 and 4, and Aug. 9, 10 and 11. The final performance will be Sunday, Aug. 12, at 7 p.m. All performances will be in the Communications Building theater.

LIGHTLY BASED on George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," the musical tells in pattern and song the story of Eliza Doolittle, A cockney girl in London, and her transformation by speech intonation into a fine lady. Her abrasive mentor is the high-handed professor of speech, Henry Higgins.

A smash hit in the commercial musical theater in the early sixties, "My Fair Lady" has shown enduring popular appeal through its excellent score, with such songs as "Wouldn't It Be Lovely," "The Rain in Spain," "I Could Have Danced All Night," "Get Me to the Church on Time," and "The Street Where You Live."

Byron Grant, director of the musical theater at Webster University, will perform the musical direction.

KAREN FISCHER will play Eliza, and Tom Fisher will recreate Henry Higgins. They will be supported by Steve Johnson of Granite City as Pickering, Tom Clear as Eliza's ne'er do well father, Sarah Barker as Ms. Pearce, Mae Haskins as Mrs. Eynsford-Hill, Rebecca K. Williams plays Mrs. Hopkins, and Theresa Donohoo is Mrs. Higgins. Robb Doren appears as Eliza's lovelorn beau Freddy.

Stage direction is by W. Craven Mackle and choreography by J.

Calvin Jarrell. Charles Otis Sweeney has designed the sets; lights are by Mark Goeke, and costumes by Caroline DeMoss. The assistant director/stage manager is Rose Arendt Felts.

The production has been funded in part by a grant from the Camelot Fund of the St. Louis Arts and Education Council.

Free parking is available behind the Communications Building on evenings of performances. Ticket and reservation information is available by calling 1-800-277-3. Tickets are $6, $5, $4.50, and $3.

Students can become members of advisory committee

When students register for fall classes at Granite City Center (GCC) of Bellevue Area College, they can do more than just take classes there.

Students can become a member of the Student Advisory Committee. The committee helps plan activities that make GCC more than just classrooms. Through the committee, students can make new friends while having fun.

THE COMMITTEE is open to any student attending the center. "We wouldn't have been able to do things without them," said Rosanna Herren, GCC Director of Student Life. The committee plans student activities and gets the word out to other students. During the past year, the committee set up for movies shown in the cafeteria, coordinated physical fitness days and helped with the Red Cross blood drive and the GCC Christmas dance.

Committee members were especially helpful in promoting the "Tamburians" dance troupe's performance. "They did all the legwork on that one," Herren said. "They sold tickets, gave out programs and helped arrange the reception afterwards."

"WHEN IT comes to getting the job done, they either do it or find someone to do so."

Chris Hintense, chairman of the committee and a graduate of Granite City High School South, helped start the committee. "We had lots of students talking about things they didn't have here," he said. "So I came and talked to Rosanna and we got things going in terms of recreation. We got a lot of support from the main office."

A lot of that support came from Angie Green of Collinsville, Miss

Green, who is a student worker in the GCC office, was the original contact for the committee. Eventually, she became the group's secretary and treasurer.

SIX OR SEVEN students formed the committee, and as work of the committee spread, it grew to 12 members.

The committee has to keep special characteristics of the GCC student body in mind when planning activities. Students range from high-schoolers taking college-credit classes to senior citizens. Seventy-five percent of the students take night classes and all of the students commute.

The committee is planning an ice-cream social when school starts in August and is recruiting new members. For information on the committee, students may call Rosanna Herren, 931-0600.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

As noted previously, a partnership is an agreement between two or more persons to carry on a business for profit as co-owners. Once the partnership is formed, all partners have an equal voice in the management and conduct of the business unless the partnership agreement states otherwise. The question often arises after a partnership is formed as to whether partners are responsible for the actions of other partners or for the actions of employees of the partnership.

Generally speaking, every partner is an agent of the partnership for the purpose of carrying on partnership business. This means that each partner has the ability to bind the other partners for obligations incurred while carrying on partnership business. In one Illinois case, a partner made several business purchases and ran up substantial bills without the knowledge of the other partners. When the creditors tried to collect the indebtedness from the partner who had no knowledge of the purchases, this partner attempted to convince the Court that he could not be held personally liable for purchases he did not authorize. The Court disagreed and found that the creditor could attempt to collect from the partnership itself or from either partner individually.

Another interesting aspect of partnership liability involves wrongs committed by partners or their employees. Generally speaking, the partnership and all partners will be liable for acts committed by a partner or partnership employee only if it was committed while conducting partnership business. In one Illinois case, four partners operated a grooming stable for horses, and one partner assaulted a patron of the stable after the two had exchanged insults. The party who was assaulted attempted to hold all the partners responsible for his injuries, but the Court held that the assaulting partner was not acting within the scope of partnership business and therefore the other partners were not liable.

By contrast in another Illinois case a patron of a hunting club was negligently shot by the hunting partner, who was an employee of the partnership. The guide was at work and conducting a normal hunting expedition when the accident occurred. In this case, the Court held that the guide was acting within the scope of the partnership business, and therefore the partners were liable for the patron's injuries.

Charge GC man in earlier incident

Ray Wayne Howland, 39, of 2606 Lincoln Ave., was arrested last week on warrants alleging battery and criminal damage to property. He was released the following day after posting a $204 cash bond.

The charges were filed in connection with an incident earlier this month in which John P. Moore, 19, of 114 Holiday Mobile Home Park, and Howland were arguing in the yard at Howland's residence. Moore then backed an auto onto the driveway and struck a parked car, it was alleged.

At that time, Howland alleged Moore got out of his vehicle and threatened him and a fight ensued. Moore, whose face was bleeding, was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated for an arm injury and had numerous sutures taken to close a laceration, according to a relative.

He was charged with assault and driving while his license was suspended and was released after posting a $54 cash bond.

SIMON URGES ASBESTOS ABATEMENT IN SCHOOLS

Cong. Paul Simon (D-Madison) last week criticized Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) for "failing to support legislation to clean up cancer-causing asbestos hazards in Illinois schools, hazards that threaten children and workers." The two are opponents for the Senate, Nov. 6.

Simon also said cuts in the law enforcement budget of the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration, supported by Percy, have led to "regulatory neglect that endangers the health and safety of thousands of Illinois workers."

Percy calls for low gas prices

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) called on the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) to stand by its ruling scheduled to go into effect today which could lower natural gas prices in Illinois.

Both TransCanada Pipelines Limited on July 16 and the National Energy Board of Canada on June 26th filed for a rehearing on the ruling that would permit distribution companies served by more than one pipeline to have a choice in the amount of gas they purchase from each pipeline. "Canada's criticism of the FERC ruling is unreasonable because Canadian gas has consistently been sold in the U.S. at prices far above fair market values," Percy said.

In a letter mailed to FERC Chairman Raymond J. O'Connor, Percy said, "I strongly urge the FERC to let this order stand, without rehearing. For years the Canadian government has stood squarely on the side of Canadian producers and pipelines. It is only responsible that the U.S. government, and agencies like the FERC, stand squarely on the side of American consumers."

Prior to the issuance of this ruling on May 25, local gas utilities often signed contracts which required them to buy a minimum amount of gas from a pipeline, regardless of whether or not they needed it. The new FERC ruling makes these "minimum bid" provisions ineffective in contracts between distribution companies and pipelines.

"Now the free market will be allowed to operate for the benefit of consumers," Percy said in his letter. "Pipelines and producers will have a new incentive to lower their prices."

Canada recently announced that in November 1984 it will relax its price controls and allow exporters of Canadian gas to negotiate prices with its customers. Currently, nearly all of Canada's gas sales to the U.S. are at a government-administered price of $4.40 per Mcf. This compares with an average wellhead price of $2.63 per Mcf for gas produced in the U.S.

Percy said he was "encouraged by this announcement," but added, "the facts speak for themselves—Canadian gas is still more expensive than domestically-available gas. I would prefer to see the Canadians act now instead of waiting until the winter heating season begins. However, I am hopeful that the Canadian decision will accelerate price negotiations and, over time, lower the cost of imported gas to Illinois consumers."

CAR WINDOW BROKEN
Michelle Krusek of 25 Tulip Ave., Pontoon Beach, told police at 3:45 a.m. Saturday, that someone had damaged her car while it was in the Kwik-Fill parking lot. She said the rear window had been broken with a soda bottle and the left rear quarter panel of the car had been dented.
